MAY APPEAL DECISION IN NICKEL MERGER

I. C. C. RULES NEW COMBINE NOT DESIRED

Other Consolidation Plans to Await Commission's Verdict on Appeal

"LEAK" IS DENIED
Financial Phases of Merger Were Chief Objections of Board

BULLETIN
New York—(AP)—Pending railroad mergers, other than those intricately tied up with the proposed Nickel Plate consolidation, will not be deterred by the adverse decision of the Interstate Commerce commission against the Vansweringen projected combination, their sponsors asserted Wednesday.
Plans which already are well advanced for the new Lorain system in the southwest, embracing the Kansas City Southern Missouri, Missouri-Texas and St. Louis and Southwestern railroads and another for linking the St. Louis-San Francisco and Rock Island lines, will be carried forward as rapidly as possible. Other suggested mergers in the south and east which are in more tentative stages, also will proceed along lines originally contemplated.

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The proposed Nickel Plate merger rejected by the interstate commerce commission, caused speculation Wednesday to be concerned with the effect the decision might have on other proposed voluntary mergers and the administration plan to encourage railroad consolidation through legislation. First opinion was that the Vansweringen interests which sponsored the nickel plate project will take advantage of the loophole in the decision permitting them to reopen the case and that meanwhile other consolidation plans would await the commission's verdict on that appeal. What effect the decision will have on pending consolidation legislation in congress other than to focus attention upon it, remains to be seen.
The commission's ruling which found seven members opposed to the merger, one for it and three not voting, approved generally of the transportation phase of the proposal, but objected to the financial phases of it. The merger would have linked up the New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad company with New Mexico, Illinois and Chicago, and the Chicago and North Western, Erie and Pere Marquette railroads. It would have joined more than 9,000 miles of track in 10 states and Canada, with a property value exceeding one billion dollars.
Denial that a "leak" at the commission offices permitted premature news of the decision to reach Wall Street was made by George R. McGinley, secretary of the commission. Although some observers regarded the avalanche of selling during the last hour of trading on the stock market as traceable to the decision, the ruling itself was not officially announced here until 3:30 o'clock after the exchange had closed.

LAKE CARGO COAL CASE IS ORDERED REOPENED

Washington—(AP)—Reopening of the Lake Cargo Coal case was ordered Wednesday by the interstate commerce commission.
Parties to the proceedings were notified to show cause within 20 days whether further hearings should be held to supplement the record already made. Such showings, the commission said, should state the nature and purpose of the evidence to be presented.
The case involves rates on bituminous coal from mining districts in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee to Lake Erie ports for transshipment by vessel. On July 16 last, the commission found these rates to be unreasonable and complaints against them were dismissed.
So far the entries have been rather slow in arriving, but this gives a larger margin of opportunity for those who do enter. A trip to Atlantic City at the expense of the Appleton Post-Crescent and Fischer's Appleton theatre may be the reward of the Appleton girl of the greatest physical perfection as decided by the judges. And what might follow this trip?
If by some chance, the Appleton entry in the national American Venus contest, held in Atlantic City next summer, was chosen the 1926 American Venus, her possibilities for the future would be almost unbounded.

ELECT OFFICERS OF BOYS' ASSOCIATION

Madison—(AP)—Raymond C. Vance, Jr., was elected president of the Association of Boys' Secretaries of the state Y. M. C. A. at the closing session of the Boys' Work conference here Tuesday. E. V. Hunting, Milwaukee, was elected secretary.

MAN MAY SURVIVE FOUR STORY LEAP FROM HOSPITAL

Milwaukee—Richard Blietz, who jumped from a fourth story window of a hospital here late Tuesday afternoon, was reported still alive Wednesday although his condition was serious. Blietz, who is 33 years old, was at the hospital where his mother underwent a major operation. During the time she was in the operating room he paced the floor, according to hospital attendants. Even after her condition was reported "good" he continued his nervous pacing, and suddenly raced to a window, pounded the glass out with his fists, and jumped to the pavement below.
He suffered a fractured skull and other broken bones.

THREE KILLED, 20 INJURED IN TRAIN WRECK

Suburban Train and Fast Freight Collide Head-on Near Chicago

Chicago—(AP)—Three trainmen were killed and more than 20 passengers were injured, 15 seriously, in a head-on collision of an Illinois Central suburban train and a Michigan Central fast freight on the southside early Wednesday.
Officials of each railroad immediately began an investigation of a report that an open switch was responsible for the crash. A towerman and his helper near the scene of the wreck were held for questioning by a coroner's jury.
Most of the passengers were en route to suburban homes from local playhouses. The engines and the front car of each train crumpled into masses of tangled wreckage. Passengers on the suburban train—those not too seriously injured—fought their way through a maze of shattered glass and splintered wood to the open.
Scenes of terror and confusion were described by policemen and firemen who hastened to the scene. For two hours after the wreck injured men and women of the theatre crowd were being taken to hospitals. Rescuers climbed to the trains on ladders as the tracks are high above street level at the point of the crash.
The suburban train, a southbound local of four coaches, was traveling at a speedy rate when it approached the interlocking system, about eight miles south of the loop.
As the suburban crossed from the fifth to the first track, the engines saw the headlight of the northbound freight train toward them on the same track. The engineer of the passenger train set the brakes and jumped.

U. S. CONTROL OF SHOALS IS URGED BY BOB

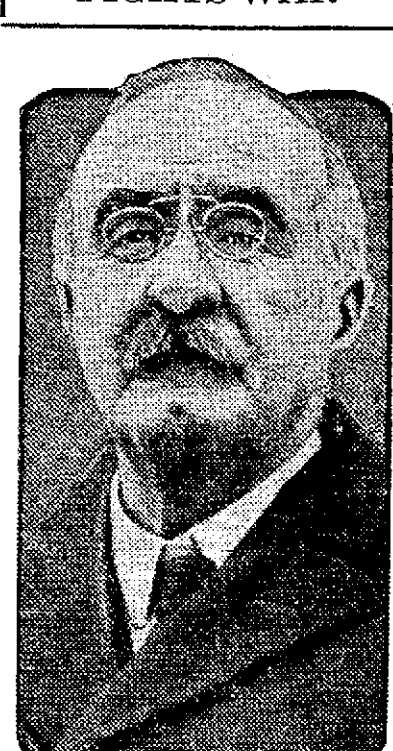

"Cheap Fertilizer" Talk Is Blind, Wisconsin Senator Argues

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Government operation of Muscle Shoals was advocated Wednesday by Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin as "the plain common sense thing for the government to do."
Declaring that the statute of 1916, providing for construction of Muscle Shoals specifically specified government operation, the Wisconsin senator told the senate there has been no change in the intervening years that would make government operation less desirable than it was then.
"We have now had five years of delay because the Harding-Coolidge administration did not want to follow plain dictates of common sense and of statute. House concurrent resolution No. 4, now before the senate, providing a commission to negotiate for the shoals operation is simply another measure of delay and avoidance of straightforward duty of government to carry out the wise and sensible mandate of congress, which conceived and dedicated this great project to public operation in the interest of the public."
FERTILIZER TALK "BLIND"
"Cheap fertilizer for the American farmer is a blind behind which politicians and powerful interests conceal their opposition to government operation of Muscle Shoals. Once more the farmer with his righteous demand for cheap fertilizer is being used in a historical capacity as a blind and a stalk the farmer in particular and agricultural horse. Once more in the name of the public in general the public is being duped."
Senator La Follette charged the power interests with fighting government operation of Muscle Shoals because they were afraid it would be entering a wedge for more widespread ownership and operation of hydro-electric power.
"So we are besought to authorize one more whirl in the whirligig of commissions and committees and to confuse and tire our public resistance so that his $150,000 investment of people may be leased into private hands," he continued, "and all the while plain duty of the government to operate this great property for service, not profit stares us in the face."

MISS WALL SURVIVES FIRST ROUND OF PLAY

St. Augustine, Fla.—(AP)—Frances Hadfield of Milwaukee and Bernice Wall of Oshkosh survived the first round of the Florida east coast championship fight Tuesday, both finishing the first 16 in qualifying round. Dorothy Klotz of Chicago was medalist with an 81, with Virginia Van Wel, also of Chicago, one stroke behind her. Glenna Collett had 84 for third and Miss Hadfield was fourth with 86, and Miss Wall finished further down with 88.

Four large rams of the Ovis Poli mountain sheep were obtained, having horns measuring more than 50 inches from tip-to-tip. In addition the trophies include 80 specimens of larger animals and 800 smaller types.

FIGHTS WAR

Sir Henry Lunn, titled Britisher, who amassed a fortune of many millions of dollars from his tourist agencies and hotels, has given all but $250,000 of his money to be used in an effort to outlaw war. He is making a speaking tour of this country explaining how he wants to see unity among the churches and concord among the nations.

ROOSEVELT IS BACK IN U. S. AFTER HUNT

Party Returns from Successful Shoot of Ovis Poli in Himalayas

New York—(AP)—Theodore Roosevelt, who nearly lost his life in his successful hunt for the rare Ovis Poli in the Himalayas, is back in New York "fit for a fight or frolic."
He arrived Tuesday night aboard the Berengaria with his brother, Kermit, and their wives who helped them hunt tigers on part of the trip. The long beards the brothers grew as a protection against mountain blizzards were gone. At times the beards froze solidly, shielding their throats from snow and wind.
Theodore would not elaborate on what he meant by being ready for a fight but did say he would continue to devote himself to public service. His last political appearance was in 1924 when he was defeated for governor of New York by Al Smith.
Wall Street reports a wager of $1,000 to $5,000 that Theodore will be the next governor of New York. The Street also reports a bet of $2,000 to $4,000 that Governor Smith will be reelected despite his announcements that he will not run again.

RAIL HEADS MEET TO DISCUSS WAGE INCREASE

Chicago—(AP)—A 7 per cent wage increase for conductors and trainmen was under consideration by managers of 10 western railroads Wednesday. It is planned to appoint a committee to confer with the brotherhoods.
Officials of the Chicago and Alton railroad announced that following their usual custom they would deal directly with their employees and would not be represented at the conference Wednesday.
The railroad executives Monday informed the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the order of Railroad Conductors that they would be unable to comply with their demands for a 7 per cent wage increase, but would confer with them Wednesday.

CONGRESS IS ANXIOUS FOR LIQUOR FACTS

Desire to Ascertain Information on Dry Law Is Apparent

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1926 by the Post Pub. Co.
Washington—What are the facts about the operation of the Volstead law? Congress has just about developed a desire to ascertain them. And the curious thing is that the more proceeds from both the "wet" and "dry" sides. Assistant Secretary Andrews of the treasury department, in charge of prohibition enforcement, wants a commission appointed to be composed of men of judicial capacity and integrity. Secretary Mellon thinks the commission could accomplish little as both sides in the prohibition dispute would insist on making their own interpretation. As for congress, the house committee on liquor traffic is getting restive because for more than a year it has had nothing to do. If no work is to be given the members say they want to be discharged from serving any further on a useless committee.

WASTE TIME, MONEY
Just now a congressional committee could do very much in an investigation which involves so many controversial aspects is difficult for the many opponents of the inquiry to see and they flatly assert that it would be time and money wasted. There will be no inquiry ordered, therefore, unless a line is drawn between fact-finding and opinion-giving. The committee at present is composed largely of members who have voted on the "dry" side. What Assistant Secretary Andrews has in mind is a commission which is outside of congress and to which witnesses may be brought who would be cross-examined, not with the idea of developing a particular viewpoint, but with the purpose of getting all the essential facts on the operation of the law.

Figures and statistics galore have been printed by various independent commissions and institutions but they usually have written their own interpretation of the figures. Even so comprehensive a report as that issued by the committee of the federal council of the churches of Christ evoked opposition from various quarters because of a belief that the figures used did not prove certain conclusions or opinions given.

MIGHT INFLUENCE PUBLIC
If there is a commission which can bring out a non-partisan report and one that will satisfy all sides as to just what the facts are, no doubt public opinion would be considerably influenced by the final report and congress would in turn be given a justification for amending the law, either making it stronger or modifying it to accord with the solutions proposed. It is precisely because any commission appointed by the government is going to have weight with the public that both sides are eager to say just how the commission should be appointed and what the scope of the investigation should be.

The interesting thing is that even the man in charge of prohibition enforcement is anxious to establish the facts by a broad inquiry. His reason is that any publicity given to the operations of the law will tend to discourage law breaking, for his concern is not with the merits of a piece of legislation but with the necessity for obeying all laws on the statute books till the day they are repealed.

MILWAUKEEAN DIES FROM MONOXIDE GAS

Milwaukee—(AP)—Truman D. Kemler, 41 years old, was killed by carbon monoxide gas as he worked in his garage. His body was found early Wednesday. The motor car was still running when his body was found.
Kemler was employed by the Chevrolet Motor company with headquarters at Janesville.

TOBACCO POOL STARTS SUIT FOR MEMBER'S CROP

Madison—(AP)—The Northern Wisconsin cooperative tobacco pool Wednesday filed suit in circuit court here to compel Erlend Lund, town of Albion, Dane co., to deliver his crop to the pool. The pool alleges that while Lund has not sold his crop to outside interests, he has refused to deliver his crop under his contract with the cooperative organization.

STATE HIGHWAYS IN MANY SECTIONS BLOCKED BY SNOW

Milwaukee—(AP)—State and county highways in many sections are completely blocked as the result of the storm the first of the week. Highways are blocked in Waupaca for the first time in two years and virtually all the auto traffic there has been halted. It is not expected that the roads will be open for the coming week.
At Beaver Dam, bus lines are reported not in operation and bus lines operating out of Janesville are also tied up. Road conditions are said to be bad in the vicinity of Tomah, and west to La Crosse.

STATE TO CARE FOR ROADS IN DUNN COUNTY

First Time Such Drastic Action Has Been Necessary in Wisconsin

Madison, Wis.—(AP)—Highway maintenance in Dunn co. has been taken over by the state highway commission which announced Wednesday that "this is the first time such a drastic step has been found necessary in Wisconsin."
The action resulted from alleged lack of cooperation with the state highway commission on the part of Frank Stewart of Menomonie co. highway commissioner.
The commission passed a resolution at its meeting Tuesday taking over the maintenance of the state trunk highway system in the county Al C. Anderson, chairman, announced Wednesday.

"The action of the highway commission follows several years of friction with the county highway commissioner of Dunn co., beginning in 1918 when the counties first undertook the maintenance of state trunks," the commission stated. "The commission is satisfied that the maintenance of Dunn co. state trunk highways has been inadequate and not up to the standard of adjoining counties, in spite of the fact that as much or more money has been spent on them."

The resolution reads that notice was served on the county clerk on Jan. 12 that the county had failed to adequately maintain its roads, but the county "has not taken such steps within 30 days after such notice, as will insure adequate maintenance." In view of this the state highway engineer was authorized to take steps to cause adequate maintenance to be performed at the cost to be charged against the funds available for maintenance in Dunn co.

J. T. Donaghey, state highway engineer, said the commission desires to cooperate to the fullest extent with the county board and the county highway committee of Dunn co. during the season of 1926.

Details of the road work in Dunn co. for the coming season will be outlined at a meeting in Eau Claire, scheduled to be held next Tuesday.

COUNCIL WILL GIVE SEAT TO GERMANY ONLY

British Foreign Secretary Recedes from Stand of Other Additions

London—(AP)—The latest developments seem to indicate that Germany alone will be elected to a permanent seat in the council in the League of Nations which begins its sessions next Monday and that the question of the claims of Poland, Spain and Brazil for similar honors will be left to the meeting of the assembly of the league in September. Sir Austen Chamberlain, the British foreign secretary, is said to have receded from his stand in favor of other new permanent memberships than Germany. He would favor if Germany could be induced to agree to giving Spain a seat at the coming session. This however, would seem out of the question, for the German chancellor, Dr. Luther, in an address at Hamburg declared it would not be compatible with the great ideals Germany proposes to pursue if Germany's admission to the league was accomplished by additional changes in the composition of the council.

At the ratification of the Locarno security pact in the French chamber of Deputies Tuesday night Premier Briand won record support for enlargement of the council of the league by giving Poland a permanent seat.

"I would favor it," he added, "even if I were called on to decide the question from the German standpoint, because there are many questions between Germany and Poland which are certain to come before the council."
Tuesday was a banner day for the Locarno security pact and supplies of arbitration treaties. The French chamber, the Polish diet and the Belgian senate all ratified them. Great Britain, Germany and Italy already have done so.

LACROSSE GIRL DENIES KNOWLEDGE OF MURDER

La Crosse—(AP)—Mrs. Mayme Hodge, La Crosse girl arrested here Tuesday night on a charge of being involved in the murder of Reverend Eirkeland at Minneapolis last November, in a statement to Chief of Police J. B. Webber denied any knowledge of the killing. She said she went to Minneapolis last August to attend Marinello school and returned to La Crosse in November. She lived in an apartment a mile from the house in which Eirkeland was found dead and said she did not know the murdered man. She has retained a lawyer here who said Wednesday he would resist any efforts at extradition.

SPURIOUS CURRENCY DEALERS ARRESTED

New York—(AP)—The arrest of 10 alleged counterfeiters here and the round up in Philadelphia, Syracuse, Detroit and other cities of some 30 "passers" of spurious currency was announced Wednesday by Joseph A. Palma, chief of the New York district of the United States secret service.

RAIL SHARES HIT

New York—(AP)—The stock market received another terrific jolt Wednesday when hundreds of thousands of railroad shares were pressed for sale.

They Push Because They Pull

A salesman was once bragging in a hotel smoking room that more people were pushing his line than any other line of goods in the country.
When asked by a fellow salesman what his line was, he replied, "Baby carriages."
He scored a point all right, because lots of people are pushing baby carriages—and that is not all.
Last month a Post-Crescent classified ad pushed a baby carriage—pushed it right out of the home of Mrs. J. Ridings, 27 E. Franklin street, into the home of a new owner.
Mrs. Ridings advertised the baby carriage for sale in The Post-Crescent Classified Section and was very much pleased with the successful result.

BREAK COMES DURING LAST TRADING HOUR

Precedes Disapproval of Nickel Plate Merger by Only One Hour

TRADING IS FRENZIED
Is First Break in General Bull Movement Since Election of Cal

BULLETIN
New York—(AP)—Breaking all existing records for volume in the history of the New York stock exchange, Wednesday's stock market crashed again in the last hour of trading, despite the strong banking support apparent for a number of high grade industrial and railroad stocks. "Nickel Plate" common collapsed 28 points to 135 as a result of the unfavorable merger decision by the interstate Commerce commission and over a score of other issues dropped 5 points to nearly 22 points.
Total sales had crossed the 3,000,000 share mark before 3:30 p. m. the ticker was still 20 minutes behind the market with prices quoted on the floor in many cases 1 to 3 points below those actually appearing on the tape.

New York—(AP)—Estimates Wednesday of paper losses from the first big smash in quoted values in the New York stock exchange in two years ran as high as a billion dollars.

The break came in the last hour of trading Tuesday, or about an hour before disapproval of the Nickel Plate merger was announced at Washington. Wednesday there was much discussion of the possibility of a leak in the news, especially as rails were hit hard.

E. H. Simmons, president of the exchange, said that news of the decision reached the exchange through the regular channels, so far as he knew, and came after the market closed.
The general decline in the active issues was from one to 15 points. It was the most severe break the stock exchange has had since the deflation of 1920-21.
It also was the first big break in the general bull movement which had been under way since President Coolidge was elected and reached its peak Feb. 13.

Trading on the floor was frenzied during the crash. Brokers were shouting and shrieking orders. Clerks clung to every available telephone, trying to keep their offices abreast of the falling prices.
The ticker tape was 54 minutes behind time, a record in itself. When the tape quoted Hudson Motors at 118 1/2, for example, the stock actually was selling at 108 on the floor.

In the final hour more than 1,400,000 shares were sold. This was a new record, and brought the total for the day to 2,015,700.
In the wee small hours Wednesday officials in the financial district were tight. Some brokers were hurrying back from Palm Beach and other winter resorts in response to urgent calls.

DIRECTED PLAY IS CITY'S NEED, ROTARIANS TOLD

Secretary Werner of Y. M. C. A. Points Out Necessity for Character Building

Appleton's need for directed play-ground was the theme of a talk on Community Recreation, by George F. Werner, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., at the meeting of the Rotary club at Hotel Northern Tuesday noon. Directed play is a character building activity, undirected only a character finding one, Mr. Werner said.

The value of supervised play has been shown to Appleton people, the speaker said, in the benefits derived by the children who used the supervised swimming pool here each year. The purpose of supervision on the playground or in the swimming pool is to teach children how to play and how to get the maximum benefits from the obtainable equipment, he maintained. Mr. Werner reported on what other cities in Wisconsin are doing in directed play work and discussed their programs, in the light of Appleton's needs. Oshkosh, Sheboygan, Green Bay, Janesville, and Eau Claire have summer programs for supervised play, and Kenosha and Menasha have year-round programs, it was said. The board of education of the park board of a city usually finances playground programs, Mr. Werner said.

A report of the sub-committee on directed playgrounds of the community welfare committee of the Appleton chamber of commerce was given and also a report of the recreation committee of the Better Cities contest. A combined committee of the two groups will continue the study of Appleton's needs, and will plan a program of supervised play for Appleton parks in the summer. P. O. Keicher is chairman of the committee and Mr. Werner is its secretary, it was said.

Representatives of other organizations in the city will be asked to meet with the committee to plan an experimental program, the speaker said. The other organizations are the park board, board of education, University of Wisconsin extension division, ministerial association, city administration, trades and labor council, American legion, Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions clubs, and the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Werner quoted recommendations from Aubrey Williams, chairman of the Better Cities contest, Chester Allen of the university extension division, and G. R. Batchelor of the National Playground association, for supervised recreation in Appleton.

Miss Venus Contest Will Close Next Friday Night

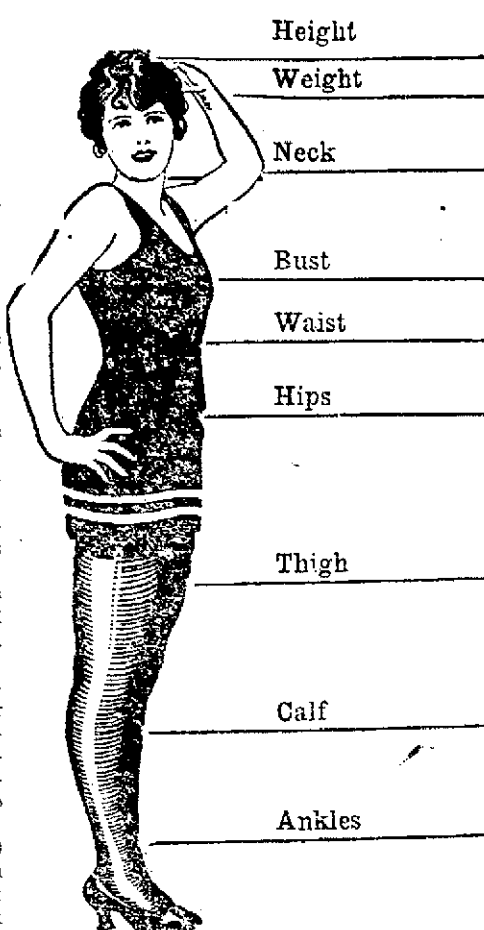

Pictures and applications for the American Venus beauty contest sponsored by the Appleton Post-Crescent and Fischer's Appleton theatre have only two days more to reach the contest editor of the Appleton Post-Crescent. Does your form appear to have about the same proportions as that of Miss Fay Lauphler, whose picture appears on this page? If so, the judges of the contest want your photograph and your measurements.

The contest will close on March 5, when the judges, Miss Dorothy Vestal, Miss Blanche Burrow, and Mrs. John Engel will decide what Appleton girl has the most perfect form. Photographs need not be full length, but a picture of the face is necessary.

Measurements made as indicated by the picture of Miss Lauphler must be accurate, and the applicant's address and telephone number should be included in the application. Each girl entering the contest will be asked to sign an agreement, in the light of Appleton's needs. Oshkosh, Sheboygan, Green Bay, Janesville, and Eau Claire have summer programs for supervised play, and Kenosha and Menasha have year-round programs, it was said.

The first prize will be $50 in gold and the second an American Venus toilet set worth about $10. Each entrant will be given two tickets to any performance of the picture The American Venus, starring Miss Lauphler, to be shown at Fischer's Appleton theatre four days, from March 8 to 11.

The winners of the contest will be announced and crowned at the theatre during the showing of the American Venus in Appleton.

BOARD'S RESOLUTION IS SENT TO SENATORS

The resolution favoring the modification of the Volstead act to permit the sale of light wines and beer, adopted by Outagamie-co board of supervisors at its meeting in February, was sent to Senators Robert M. La Follette and L. L. LeCompt Monday. The resolution provides that copies be sent to the Wisconsin senators and to the clerk of Marathon-co, the first county in the state to go on record as opposed to the Volstead law.

FARMER LOSES LOAD OF MILK IN DEEP SNOWDRIFT

Erwin Tellock, route 2, Appleton, lost part of his milk supply Tuesday when a load of milk tipped over near the Henry Buboltz farm on route 2. George Krickesberg, route 1, had better luck, however, for though a team of horses hauling his milk ran away, it was stopped a mile down the road without losing any of the load. Mr. Krickesberg telephoned ahead and the team was cornered in a high snowdrift.

HIGHWAY 47 STILL IS CLOSED TO CAR TRAFFIC

State trunk highway 47, north of Mackville, still is closed to traffic, according to motorists who attempted to use the highway. The Appleton-Seymour bus line attempted to make trips several times and has been forced to turn back at Mackville each time. Farmers north of Mackville have been forced to haul their milk to the village by sled and have it conveyed the remainder of the distance to Appleton by truck.

A patient for St. Elizabeth hospital was taken by sled from Shiocton to Mackville where she was transferred to an ambulance for the remainder of the journey.

ELECTRIC MEN WORK TOGETHER TO HELP RADIO

Madison—(AP)—A meeting of the radio committee of the Wisconsin Utilities association is scheduled to be held in Milwaukee Thursday to perfect plans for a "statewide cooperation in eliminating electric interference over which the companies have direct control."

The Wisconsin Utilities association announces that electric companies are establishing special radio service departments to assist radio owners in getting clear reception. Sensitive instruments will be available for the detection of noises.

Research in radio disturbances, the utilities association maintains, has disclosed that nine of the 53 causes of noises are attributable to defective electric company lines. Fourteen causes, say the statement, may be due to defective electrical equipment in the home or radio apparatus, and conditions outside a responsible for 30 causes.

C. S. DICKINSON LEAVES ESTATE WORTH $110,000

Widow, Two Sons, Daughter and Two Sisters Are Named Beneficiaries

Two sons, Kenneth S. Dickinson of Appleton and Philetus S. Dickinson of Chicago, a daughter, Ruth of Appleton, two sisters, Emily M. Dickinson of Benton Harbor, Mich., and Hattie C. Dickinson of Helen, Minn., and the widow, Mrs. Grace Dickinson, were named beneficiaries of the estate of C. S. Dickinson, prominent Appleton banker who died last in February. The estate includes about $100,000 in personal property and $10,000 in real estate.

Mrs. Dickinson is given all of the household furniture and personal effects and the remainder of the estate is placed in the hands of the First Trust Co. of this city for the use of the widow and children. The estate may be invested by the trust company subject to the approval of the sons.

The company is to pay Mrs. Dickinson $5,000 a year from the income of the estate and the sisters of the deceased will receive $25 a month. On the death of Mrs. Dickinson the trust will terminate but the sons will continue to pay the sisters.

After the death of Mrs. Dickinson $10,000 will go to Ruth Dickinson, the daughter, and the remainder of the estate will be equally divided between the two sons, Kenneth and Philetus.

The trust also will terminate if Mrs. Dickinson remarries and in that case the daughter, Ruth, will receive $10,000 and the remainder of the estate will be divided between the sons and Mrs. Dickinson each receiving one third.

Kenneth and Philetus Dickinson are named executors of the will and J. P. Frank is named attorney.

TOURISTS WANT TO KNOW IF CITY HAS FREE CAMP

Numerous inquiries regarding Appleton's tourist camp facilities have been received at the Appleton Chamber of Commerce within the last few days from tourist information bureaus of large midwestern cities. The local chamber is withholding information on these inquiries in the hope that definite steps will be taken toward the establishment of a free tourist camp in the very near future.

When the city maintained a tourist camp at Alicia park frequent editorials and articles from newspapers throughout Wisconsin and surrounding states were received at the chamber of commerce commending Appleton for the maintenance of its splendid camp and the fine treatment accorded to tourists. Last year the large travel bureaus did not route tourists through Appleton because there was no camp here.

A few information requests have been received at the chamber of commerce tourist bureau but the tourist inquiries probably will not be numerous until April, according to Hugh G. Corbett, managing secretary.

Fellowship of Prayer

Daily Lenten Bible reading and meditation prepared for Commission of Evangelism of Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

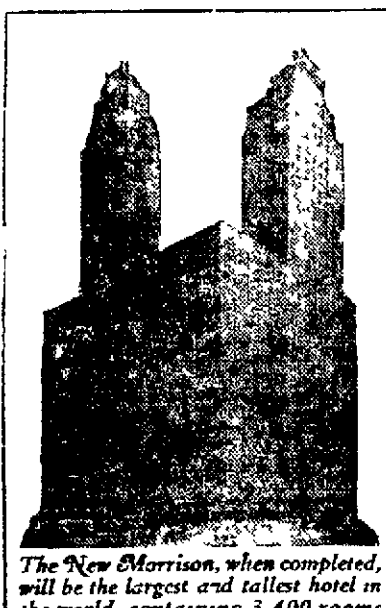

Read in 7:44 Text 7:37 If any man thirst, let him come unto me and drink.

Meditation—Again the Master appeals to keen sense of thirst in a hot semi-tropical land. This appetite was felt intensely by all. Every one knew the refreshing satisfaction of the cup of cold water as the water vendor went around with the clanging of his metal drinking bowls. This satisfaction was used to symbolize the great satisfaction Jesus promises to those who believe and obey him. Complete fulfillment of the deepest needs of the soul come to a man who makes the great adventure of living his life in the wonderful way of Jesus.

Prayer—Blessed Lord stand again in the court of my soul's temple and cry unto me. I have wept and seen not. It is Thyself I really seek, for if I have it and not Thee I have nothing, and my spirit remains furnished and athirst. Interpret to me, I pray Thee, the motives of my own heart so that I shall no longer search for what I have nor seek what I sin to slay desires designed to find no satisfaction. I find Thee. CITY WILL HAVE SMALLER BACK TAX TO REPORT

Bachman Expects That Delinquent Amount Will Be Less Than Last Year's

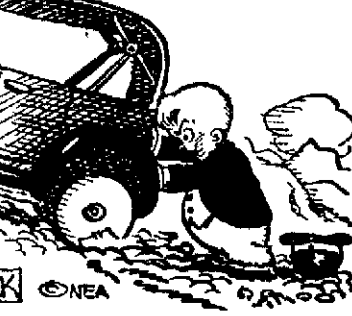

Annual return of collected and delinquent taxes will be made to the county treasurer early in March by Fred E. Bachman, city treasurer. Police are still engaged in collecting delinquent income, personal and dog taxes and have succeeded in turning in about one-half of the amount that was in arrears.

When the return is made the city will retain the delinquent personal property tax bills to be collected through process of law with the city attorney doing the prosecuting for the city treasurer. As a rule most delinquent taxes of this class are collected without the need of extreme legal measures.

As for the delinquent real estate income and dog taxes, these are turned over to the county treasurer. The income taxes to be collected by the sheriff, the delinquent dog tax cases to be prosecuted by the district attorney

75-YEAR-OLD TREE IS HEWN IN GRAND CHUTE

A cottonwood tree planted more than 75 years ago on the property of Fred Bohl, town of Grand Chute has been cut down. The tree which is more than three feet in diameter, was planted by Orin V. Adcock, well-known to the older settlers of the county. Since that time many tenants have occupied the farm. Mr. Bohl decided to cut the tree down as it is dead and constitutes a menace in a heavy wind.

WILL MERGE TWO MISSION GROUPS

State Congregational Churches Will Vote at Beloit on Consolidation

The Wisconsin Board of Missions of the Interior and the Wisconsin State Missionary union, missionary societies of the congregational church in Wisconsin will be merged into one body, backed by the state conference of the church, according to a decision reached recently by officers of both organizations meeting with the board of directors of the state Congregational conference. The plan will be submitted for the formal approval of the two societies at their joint annual session to be held in Beloit on April 20 and 21.

This move was recommended to the societies by the National Council of Congregational church and further coordination of effort will be made by the cooperation of the state conference with regional committees. Mr. E. W. Wilson of Appleton is recording secretary of the Wisconsin Board of Missions of the Interior. For more than 5 years the two societies have operated independently of the state conference. The Board of Missions devoting attention to Wisconsin's home and foreign missionary activities and the Home Missionary Union center for work in the state and in other fields in the United States.

CURBING POLITICAL HOSTILITY

The supreme court of the United States has held invalid that part of the Wisconsin inheritance tax law which makes subject to the tax all gifts made within six years of death, regardless of whether or not such gifts were in anticipation of death. Justice McReynolds, who wrote the opinion, said: "The challenged enactment plainly undertakes to raise a conclusive presumption that all material gifts within six years of death were made in anticipation of it, and to lay a graduated inheritance tax upon them without regard to the actual intent. A classification for purposes of taxation must rest on some reasonable distinction. A forbidden tax cannot be enforced in order to facilitate the collection of one properly laid."

The Wisconsin law which arbitrarily sought to tax all gifts made within a period of six years previous to death was plainly an attempt to impute wrong motives to those making the gifts. In failing to make a distinction between those gifts which were bona fide and not in anticipation of death, and those which were designed to evade taxation, it overreached itself. This portion of the statute is another illustration of the prejudice and hostility toward persons of means carried by our politicians and law-makers. It imposed a restraint upon the right of property and its disposition which was unethical and unjust. It was a step in the movement of certain extremists to break down the rights and security of property. It is a good thing for Wisconsin that the supreme court has interposed a restraining hand. We have gone far enough as it is in our political hostility toward wealth and investments in this state.

INVESTIGATING PROHIBITION

Secretary Mellon is opposed to the proposal of Assistant Secretary Andrews, in charge of prohibition enforcement, for an inquiry by presidential commission into the functioning of prohibition. He says the people already have the facts and have made up their minds. We do not know that an investigation by presidential commission would result in any good, neither is it apparent that it would result in any harm. Probably the most it would do is to cost the taxpayers a barrel of money. Mr. Mellon may be right in his assumption that the people know the facts, but there is a wide controversy on this subject as between the wets and the dries. Whether the findings of a commission would be accepted by either side is doubtful.

Between the two extremes, there are, however, many persons who are on the fence. They have not fully made up their minds as to whether modification of the Volstead act would be beneficial or injurious. They are not even sure whether conditions today are better or worse than before its passage. They are open to conviction. Many others feel it is too early to reach a conclusion, that a sufficient test of prohibition has not been made. These persons also are open minded.

Perhaps it is a little soon to make an investigation, and yet if it were conducted by men of national prominence, whose reasonableness and moderation are well established and in whom the public would have confidence, it is conceivable that their report might be of value, at least in touching upon the problems which have arisen under prohibition. The trouble with this question, like most others in the country upon which there is acute difference of opinion, is that it is steeped in politics. Many persons who are dealing with it in a public way through speeches and proposals are doing so for political advantage. They are using the question to strengthen themselves in politics or in office. There is no way of judging how far they are influencing public opinion. In the end people will decide the question for themselves, and will let the politicians know. Also, their decision will probably be sensible and for the best interests of the country.

AN UNDERPAID PROFESSION

Crime is the poorest paid profession in the world. Measured by all those tests which the world applies to success the criminal never gets his share. He is grossly underpaid considering the risks involved, the working hours, the overhead and the expensive training.

Search the records of a nation and you will scarcely find a professional criminal who has died rich. Considerable sums of money pass through his hands but he seldom gets much benefit out of it. Lawyers, police fees, court costs, protection, political pull, witnesses, betrayals and getaways cost too much. The overhead is excessive considering the profits of the game.

The criminal walks through life a lonely man. He seldom, if ever, has more than one or two pals he can trust. He looks with apprehension into the face of every man he meets lest he be an officer in some new disguise.

He lives in the daily company of fear—fear of detection, fear of apprehension, fear of frame-ups, faked charges, double crosses, squawks, stool-pigeons and other gummens.

His money buys less than that of an honest man. He is the prey of every vulture who wants a share of his filthy spoils. He cannot go into the courts and get redress for his wrongs. No one can assure him of a square deal. In the land of the free he is a chained man. He gets only such justice as he is able to command by fear or by the reputation of his trigger finger.

He rarely has a home and family. He knows little or nothing of the thrill that comes from having little children running to meet him at the close of the day's work. If he has a wife he scarcely dares appear in any public place in her company.

Martin Duckin, the Chicago gunman, seemed to lead a spectacular life and doubtless he will be imitated by scores of other boys who are enamored of the wild adventures through which he lived. But they forget the nights he slept in garages or under sidewalks like a hunted rat. They do not stop to realize that he was unable to even visit his sweetheart because of the watchful eye of the law. It is true that he drove a Cadillac car, but he couldn't sleep two nights in the same place and dared not present himself at a reputable hotel and ask for accommodations.

The criminal gets his picture printed in the newspapers—but in order that honest men may identify him and shun him more severely.

And in the long run he runs afoul of the law. Few professional criminals are able to elude the police successfully for long periods of time. And life behind steel bars at hard labor has little glamor about it.

Verily, the way of the criminal is poorly paid.

TODAY'S POEM
By HAL COCHRAN

She's only a wee little bit of a thing but what ever she wishes she gets. Her mother and father stand ready to bring real service to tiny Queen Bess.

Just four years ago when she came into power, and she's ruled round the house ever since. Her throne is a high chair where, hour after hour, her tone is the type to convince.

This wee little bit of mother and dad gets treatment that's meant for the queens. She's petted and bowed to and made to feel glad—but wait till she reaches her teens.

The chances are, strongly, a mighty surprise will come from the kindness that's heaped. Quite likely Queen Bessy will open their eyes to the fact that their daughter is spoiled.

The judgement that's used with a wee little tot, and the way that the right things are told her, can build or tear down common sense that she's got. And it helps, or it hurts, when she's older.

Most of us realize things are not as bad as we think they are.

KEEP YOUR TEETH CLEAN

A correspondent asks what is the correct method of cleaning the teeth and explains that in various advertisements and directions accompanying tooth paste (an aspect of popular education which one might dwell on if this were Saturday) the simple customer is informed that one should brush away from the gums, although the customer in this instance finds he can get the best results by very vigorous rubbing without regard for the direction. The correspondent would like to know just what is the approved method of brushing the teeth.

He has come to the wrong shop. We should perhaps send him up one night and back to the fourth floor on the north corridor. But we ain't gonna turn him over to the dentist until we see if we can't sell him something first.

Of methods of brushing the teeth there is no end, and I fear modifications of the technic will keep on appearing as often as new dentists are turned out by the dental schools. Every little dentist has a movement all his own, when it comes to the proper and efficient way to brush one's teeth.

Well, let us get the beans spilled and then clean up the unwholesome situation.

In my judgement it doesn't matter much how—or whether one brushes one's teeth. No doubt some harm is done by the toothbrush when it is roughly or carelessly applied to teeth and gums—at least dentists introducing their own methods of brushing the teeth generally assure us that some harm may be done by the methods other dentists have advocated.

If I had a bimbo all my very own to do with as I wished and no accounting to the neighbors, I'd teach him to keep things out of his mouth and of course—that would include the average toothbrush.

Now I mean this. It costs me a good deal more than the casual reader may imagine to give utterance to such teaching, but I am a downright boob in some ways and I—well, maybe I am in most ways—at least some minding, half-dentists think so.

Mind, I believe it is of the utmost importance to keep one's teeth—to keep them clean if possible, but to keep them anyway. A sound tooth is worth any price you may name.

Brushing the teeth, however the rite may be performed and whatever substances may be used in lieu of plain soap and water, is a harmless practice, so far as I can see and if anybody feels better by indulging in this rite, there is but one objection I have against it and that is the cost of the process in time and materials. In my opinion brushing the teeth has no influence on the conservation of the teeth and when you consider the esthetic aspect of the rite it is—well, on the whole it is a repulsive nuisance.

Everybody and most particularly the young child should make regular visits to the dentist, at least twice a year, to have any stains, discolorations, accumulations of tartar or other deposits removed—to have the teeth cleaned. No amount of brushing will either prevent or remove these deposits. And on the occasion of the regular visit to the dentist any little cavity will be detected and immediately treated by the dentist.

That's the plain common sense of the question, I believe.

The relation of diet and use of the teeth is a question aside.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Grape Juice

In grape juice fattening? (T. F. E.)

Answer—A pint of grape juice yields 238 calories; a pint of milk yields 325 calories. The average young adult requires about 2,500 calories daily to maintain normal weight, when at rest; and around 3,000 when active, and 5,000 or more when athleticly active.

FREMONT WILL

STATION SOON

Frank, Emmons, of Appleton, Breaks Ground for Building in Village

Special to Post-Crescent

Fremont—Fremont will have a new large gasoline filling station this summer. It will be built on the corner lot across the street from the bank, by Frank Emmons of Appleton, a former resident of Dale. Work has begun by breaking up the ground and digging trenches for the gasoline tanks.

The filling station will be equipped with all the modern features of a station. Five different kinds of gasoline will be available to the public. The station building will be provided with a ladies' rest room. Artistic flower beds will occupy the unpaved spaces above the gas tanks below, and the station will otherwise be made attractive. Seven large globe lights will light up the station.

The construction of a filling station at this place will prevent this corner from becoming a blind one, which might cause many accidents during the heavy motor traffic in Fremont in the summer. It is pointed out.

Fremont experienced the worst snowstorm of the winter Wednesday night and Thursday of last week. Automobile traffic has been resumed after the roads had been blocked for several days. The Appleton-Waupaca and Oshkosh-Waupaca busses, which run through Fremont, stopped making their routes last Thursday. The Oshkosh bus made a return trip to Oshkosh, Sunday evening, the first trip made by either bus since the snowfall.

CLEAR ROAD

John Drews and son Lester were hired by the town of Fremont to shovel the snow from the road at the Lakeside cemetery and a distance past it, Monday. Drifts of snow from five to eight deep at this section of the road is the worst blockade between Waupaca and Appleton, travelers and busmen say. Auto traffic has been going through land and marsh bordering Lake Koshong, owned by Arthur Schwartz and John Drews.

Dr. Charles F. Belling converted his Ford car into a snowmobile which he used for calls the last few days. A pair of runners replace the usual wheels at the front, and double wheels at the rear.

Increase your height in a Trimble Spring Hat

Or shorten it — as you will.

A hat can do this — if it knows how.

Trimble Hats have for years been making 5'5 men look 5'3.

This Spring affords a fine opportunity to men who have been looking over other folks shoulders to look over hats that will make men stylishly tall—or as we said—fashionably short.

TWO FLOORS OF GOOD THINGS TO WEAR

Adventures In The Library

By ARNOLD MULDER

CARL SANDBURG ON ABRAHAM LINCOLN

It was probably not an accident that the publishers of Carl Sandburg's long-awaited "Abraham Lincoln" issued the first two volumes of the work in February, the birth-month of Lincoln. They probably wished to take advantage of the annual revival of interest in Lincoln in February and so timed the book to appear shortly before Lincoln's birthday.

It was announced as being ready on Feb. 1. That gave speakers at Lincoln day banquets throughout the country about a week in which to glance into the new work with a view of finding some hints there that might give at least a touch of originality to their addresses. Or at least, it gave opportunity for such speakers to spy casually, "At this very moment there lies on my library table a new life of the great emancipator, from the pen of that great poet Carl Sandburg."

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Arnold and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Arnold, Sunday. Mr. Arnold's seventy-third birthday anniversary was celebrated.

Mrs. Leonard Zuchke, who submitted an application for appendicitis at St. Elizabeth's hospital, Appleton, returned to her home here, Saturday.

Drifts of snow from five to eight deep at this section of the road is the worst blockade between Waupaca and Appleton, travelers and busmen say. Auto traffic has been going through land and marsh bordering Lake Koshong, owned by Arthur Schwartz and John Drews.

Dr. Charles F. Belling converted his Ford car into a snowmobile which he used for calls the last few days. A pair of runners replace the usual wheels at the front, and double wheels at the rear.

Other, with a wide, thick belt passing tightly over the tires, furnish the emotion. The wheels and runners are narrowed to the width of sleigh runners. It is the first snowmobile in Fremont this winter. Several have been used here during other winters.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hildebrandt and Mrs. Roland Wells visited Leonard Wells at the Mercy hospital, Oshkosh, Sunday.

Stewart Larsen of Chicago is visiting relatives in Fremont.

Leon Swenson of Albionville, visited at the Alvin Ballington home, Sunday.

Ralph Hill of Iron Mountain, Mich., who has been visiting his wife and baby at his home here, returned to his work, Monday.

Mrs. Jessie Stratton returned to Appleton Sunday evening.

It is no secret that Carl Sandburg has for years had an ambition to rescue Lincoln from the myth-makers. I do not know whether he has succeeded but that at least was his aim. The book published this month will give a good idea whether he has done it or not, although it is not the whole of the biography. Its subtitle is "The Prairie Years," and it only covers the period from Lincoln's birth in 1809 to the day when he left Illinois for Washington 52 years later. The present installment runs through two volumes. How many volumes the completed work will contain has not been announced but inasmuch as the last four years of Lincoln's life were crowded with more events than the first 52, it will probably be a many-volume biography before it is finished.

I can think of no one whose picture of Lincoln I would rather read than Carl Sandburg's. The publishers claim that this is not "just another life of Lincoln," and this can only be accepted as not merely a publisher's blurb. At least I am willing to accept it until Carl Sandburg's book itself should disprove it.

Carl Sandburg is that unusual genius who can bring intense sympathy to a subject and at the same time continue to see that subject exactly as it is. He can remain objective while at the same time infusing his theme with a warmth of subjective emotion. He admires Lincoln as much as any spell-binder but he probably also sees him just as he was, if he can make the reader do this it will be a genuine new experience.

URGES RELIGION BE IMPARTED IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

University of Wisconsin Professor Is Speaker in Chilton Presbyterian Church

Special to Post-Crescent
Chilton—Professor W. H. Williams of the University of Wisconsin spoke at Trinity Presbyterian church on Sunday morning. Prof. Williams is professor of Semitic languages and Hellenistic Greek, which position he has held for many years.

He spoke in the interest of a movement to make it possible to have religious instruction in the public school system of the state. He maintains that the present time wave which seems to be sweeping the country, and the low standard of morality of the modern young people is largely due to lack of religious instruction during the formative period of life. He believes that the teaching of religion in schools would ultimately be a most significant force in solving the crime problem in the United States. The question of religious instruction in the public schools has been before the public since the World war, and different denominations are sponsoring the movement.

A daughter was born to Mrs. Edward Noll on Friday, Feb. 27. Mrs. George Wolfe visited friends in this city on Sunday.

District Attorney Frederick Aebischer was in Milwaukee on Thursday and Friday, when he attended a meeting of the district attorneys of the state.

The following notices in case were issued by the county clerk during last week: Clarence Reichert of Maple Grove, Manitowish-water, and Miss Nora M. Krueger of Calumet; Edward Huelshoe of Calumetville; Foad du Lac-co, and Miss Edna Linthier of Brotherton.

WAUPACA MEDICS IN MAYOR RACE

More Candidates Enter Contest for Alderman and County Supervisor

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca—With still more than two weeks left to the nomination papers for city officers and county supervisors, more and more competition is developing for nearly every office. There will be two candidates. On Monday papers for Doctor William G. Doerflinger were being circulated for his candidacy for mayor to oppose Dr. E. E. Chandler whose candidacy was announced last week.

O. E. Hanson who operates the Natch garage will be a candidate for the office of alderman in the First ward to oppose the incumbent, P. M. Morrison. Friends of Harvey Peterson Monday were circulating a petition to nominate him for alderman in the Second ward to oppose S. E. Sanders, who is a candidate for the position now held by Tom Salverson. There will be at least two new men out for supervisors in the city. S. J. Danielson will be at least two new men out for supervisors in the city. S. J. Danielson will be on the ticket in the First ward, and it is understood that Tom Pommer will seek the supervisor office in the Third ward. Fred Rosche has represented the ward for nearly 20 years.

A fire alarm sounded Saturday at midnight brought the fire department to the home of Charles Russell in the Second ward. The blaze was the result of sparks falling from a chimney fire to the roof of Mr. Russell's home. Neighbors extinguished the fire before flames arrived.

COUNCIL GIVES 2 CONTRACTORS EQUAL BUSINESS

Rescinds Previous Action and Awards Contract to Cement Bidders on Cement

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The common council at its meeting Tuesday evening rescinded its action of the previous session when it accepted the bid of New London Produce company to supply the city with 2,000 barrels of cement for paving streets this spring.

A protest against the awarding of the contract had been entered by Roemer Lumber company, one of the bidders, which has submitted a proposal that was equal in price to that of the New London Produce company.

The lumber company contended that it also was a heavy taxpayer and that as long as the bids were identical, it deserved equal consideration. After rescinding its previous action, the council divided the business equally between the two bidders.

A petition by August Graywinder, George Warner, Chester and Ida Albin for vacation of the Owen Dexter plat, of which they are the owners, was received and placed on file. This would keep the property from being divided into city lots and made subject to city tax.

The thing that makes you want to sing—when "Old Kentucky Home" is played

HAVE you ever listened to the music of this old, familiar song, without singing—to yourself, at least? Few of us have. Few of us can resist the deeply human urge to take part in the music that we hear.

Just listening is not enough. It leaves something in us unsatisfied. Only from the songs we sing and the music we play ourselves do we derive complete enjoyment.

To your home the Gulbransen Registering Piano brings both these pleasures—even though you cannot read a note of music. The Gulbransen plays by itself. Yet you control its playing. You can hush it to a whisper, or release its clear, sweet tones in brilliant volume. You can play fast or slow, accent melody and harmony notes, accompany voices or other instruments. It is simple and easy.

For a small cash payment we will put a Gulbransen Registering Piano in your home. Balance in small payments to suit your convenience. We will make a liberal allowance for your present piano or other musical instrument.

GONYO DECISION LIKE BOLT FROM BLUE, DRYER SAYS NURSE RESIGNS BECAUSE COUNCIL WON'T RAISE PAY

School Authorities Had No Intimation of Action Against Basketball Star

Kaukauna—The decision of the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic association that Noel Gonyo, captain of the Kaukauna high school basketball team, had violated the association rules against professionalism and had barred Kaukauna from participation in the district basketball tournament came "like a bolt of lightning from the clear sky," high school officials said Tuesday.

Monday night Coach "Tiger" Smith and Olin Dryer, high school principal, were called to Green Bay to go into conference with W. L. A. and Henry Smith, members of the district board. With only a hint of what the conference was to be about the two Kaukauna representatives went to Green Bay and there they were told that Kaukauna's entrance into the district tournament had been protested because of the ineligibility of Captain Gonyo.

Mr. Smith and Mr. Dryer said that it surely must have been a mistake as they had settled the question of Gonyo's eligibility last year, but Mr. Neumann said additional information had been secured which absolutely stamped Gonyo as a professional.

The charges against Gonyo were that he played with the American Legion of Wrightstown in 1924 while a member of the Kaukauna high school basketball team. Coach Smith maintained Gonyo played with the Wrightstown team after he had withdrawn from Berlin high school and before he enrolled in Kaukauna high school.

Gonyo was in Kaukauna for some time before going to school here as he did not enroll until the beginning of the second semester which is about the middle of February. Mr. Smith Tuesday was still of the belief that Gonyo was a member of the high school team while playing with the Wrightstown team, but he said that if it could be proven that he was a member or had not enrolled in the local school then he would be declared ineligible. Until this is proven, however, Gonyo is ineligible and all games in which he participated in must be forfeited according to the ruling of the W. L. A. A.

This means that Kaukauna is thrown out of the district basketball tournament, which will be held in Appleton the latter part of next week.

These same charges were brought up last year by West De Pere, but after investigation by both schools they were dropped.

Local high school authorities are following up the investigation and everything in their power will be done to make Gonyo eligible.

Mr. Dryer read the following statement to the students at 1

STAGE AND SCREEN

BRUNETTE ELEANOR BOARDMAN BLONDE IN "ONLY THING"

The screen has a new blonde heroine. This time a famed brunette beauty, none other than Eleanor Boardman, donned a golden wig to appear in Elinor Glyn's production of "The Only Thing," as a golden-haired princess.

Though Miss Boardman has been a motion picture player for more than three years, and has been playing leading roles for two years and a half, this is the first time she has been a blonde on the screen.

The role of the Princess in "The Only Thing" is one of Madame Glyn's most important and alluring heroines. The story was written directly for the screen, and with Miss Boardman in mind from the very beginning as the living personification of the leading feminine character. The finished production is coming to the Elite Theatre on Thursday and Friday.

Conrad Nagel plays the chief male role, that of the Duke of Chevenix, and others important in the cast are: Vera Lewis, Carole Clarke, Ward, David, Mir. Mario Carillo, Arthur Edmund Carew and Edward Connelly.

Jack Conway directed and the scenario was written by Madame Glyn, who also supervised the production.

This is the fourth Elinor Glyn production, and tells a more thrilling love story than any of her previous offerings, which included "Three

CONWAY TEARLE AND ALICE JOYCE IN "DANCING MOTHERS" A PARAMOUNT PICTURE

AT FISCHERS APPLETON WED. AND THURSDAY.

Weeks" and "His Hour," also released by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

"HANDS UP"

The thrilling adventures of Raymond Griffith as a rolicking, carefree Confederate spy and a member of General Robert E. Lee's staff, ending with his effort to find a way out of his greatest quandary, that of deciding between the loves of two beautiful girls—these are the highlights of the silk hat comedian's newest starring picture for Paramount, "Hands Up!"

The story begins in spirited fashion when General Lee dispatches Griffith to Nevada to attempt to divert to the south the supply of gold from the famously rich "Molly" mine which has been the source of the Union's financial strength.

Griffith meets the Union agent, Montagu Love, and the owner of the westward on the stage coach. He also meets Swain's beautiful niece, Marion Nixon and Virginia Lee Corbin, and promptly falls in love with both.

Griffith wins the confidence of Swain and is made superintendent of the mine. However, his duplicity is discovered and the townspeople are about to hang him when Miss Nixon and Miss Corbin save him.

His subsequent experiences in getting the gold through to the Confederate army only to discover that the war is over, and the outcome of his romance with the two girls are amusingly set forth and vividly depicted.

Besides those players already mentioned, the cast includes several prominent actors who portray the historical characters that enter into the background of the story. George Billings appears as "Abraham Lincoln," Noble Johnson as "Sitting Bull" and Charles K. French as "Brigham Young."

This photoplay will be shown Friday and Saturday of this week at Fischers Appleton Theatre in conjunction with four acts of vaudeville and a big program of other film features.

"NO, NO, NANETTE"

The city of Appleton will unquestionably be entertained by a visit of "No, No, Nanette," H. H. Frazer's round-the-world musical comedy sensation—"Round-the-world" because it is at the present time being played in all the principal cities of the United States, and is attracting the same amount of cordial favor in nearly every European country. It plays an engagement at the Fischers Appleton Theatre on Monday night, Mar. 8 and the simply stupendous advance sale indicates that the performance in this city will have a conspicuous share in the season's amusement reckoning.

Lovers of clean, stimulating musical comedy are sure to find in "No, No, Nanette" a very exceptional offering from every point considered. It tells an extraordinarily funny story, while exploiting a succession of song and dance numbers, characterized by absolute newness and freshness. It will be remembered that to "No, No, Nanette" belongs the credit of such phenomenal song hits as "I Want to Be Happy" and "Tea for Two," which have set a pace, such as is seldom established and will remain affectionately regarded for a time indefinite.

Aside from its alluring song and dance features, "No, No, Nanette" as a production has no superior, and it is even said that for beautiful girls and exquisite gowns, one marvels how it was possible to attain the results which have been declared so extraordinary. The fact that mail orders in unusual numbers have been pouring in, is conclusive evidence that theatre patrons have more than a keen desire to pay tribute to a musical comedy which has created such a wide spread furor.

The company engaged in exploiting the many attractive qualities of "No, No, Nanette" and which is headed by no less important personages in musical comedy as John Hyams and Leila McIntyre, contains the names of such exceedingly clever singers, dancers and actors as Roland Woodruff, Mary Vaughn, Helen Case, Dorothy Newell, Floyd English, Eulalie Young, Myrtle Miller, Mildred Joy, and others of equal celebrity.

"THE EVERLASTING WHISPER" IS STRONG STORY OF THE RUGGED NORTHWEST

"The Everlasting Whisper," the screen adaptation of Jackson Gregory's novel, in which Tom Mix is starred, and which opens a three day run at the New Bijou theatre Thursday is one of the finest stories in which the noted William Fox western star has ever appeared.

Gregory's story takes its name from the "everlasting whisper" of the breeze through the pine trees of the Northwest and it is love of this incessant whispering that brings Mark to this rugged land. He encounters Gloria Gaynor, a society girl tired of city sham, seeks contentment in the open and Mark King fits in with her mood.

Circumstances throw them together and she marries him to avoid marrying Gratton, played by Robert Cain, who has tricked her into an elopement. But with marriage, comes a realization that they are different worlds. His mode of life and his manners are repulsive to her. However, since she has made her bargain, and since he loves her with the virile love of a man of the outdoors, King makes her live up to it. The manner in which King tames this tameress of society and wins her heart provides plenty of opportunity for action of the Tom Mix sort. The picture combines the appealing Mix personality with a new trend of drama which has resulted in excellent entertainment.

Mix, in his usual dashing red-blooded self, while Alice Calhoun and Robert Cain also do fine work. Others in the cast, all of whom will please are George Berrell, Noble Johnson, Virginia Madison and Karl Dane.

MENASHAN WANTS TWO DOCTORS TO PAY HIM $25,000

Alex Price, City Charge, Contends He Lost Leg Through Doctors' Negligence

Alleging that amputation of his left leg, broken in a fall in April of 1925 was necessary because of the negligence of the doctors who attended him, Alex Price, a city charge of Menasha, has instituted suit for $25,000 against Dr. W. P. McGrath, city physician at Menasha, and Dr. E. W. Cooney of Appleton. Suit was filed in circuit court in Outagamie county and the trial has been set for April 15. Both McGrath and Cooney, in answers filed with the clerk of the courts, here, deny the allegations set forth in Price's complaint.

Keller and Keller of Appleton are representing the plaintiff and Rouch, Hixon, Klavin and Dempsey have been retained by the doctors.

Price alleges in his complaint that he broke his leg at Menasha on April 8, 1925 and that Dr. McGrath, as city physician was employed to reduce the fracture but that McGrath was negligent and careless in his treatment. Price was taken to Dr. J. Del Marcello's hospital at Menasha where he remained until the hospital was closed after Del Marcello's injury after which Price was placed in Theda Clark hospital and later was transferred to St. Elizabeth hospital in Appleton. Price contends the fracture was not reduced and that he suffered considerable pain as a result. After he was transferred to St. Elizabeth hospital, Price contends, Dr. Cooney was called into consultation and decided on a surgical operation. Price contends Cooney was negligent and that the operation was a failure, but Dr. Cooney in his answer declares he told Price before the operation was performed that the condition of his leg suggested amputation and Price was warned that there was uncertainty of union of the bones but Price insisted that the operation be performed.

Price alleges that Cooney and McGrath failed to properly attend him after the operation and that there was no union of the bones. Later Price says he was transferred to the Winnebago-co poor farm at Oshkosh on the recommendation of Cooney and McGrath who said that his leg was healed and would be restored to usefulness after exercise. Price contends his injured leg was seven inches shorter than the other and that it was in a badly inflamed condition when he was taken to the poorhouse. A short time later the leg was amputated and he holds that the doctors are responsible for his present condition.

McGrath sets up a defense in his answer that he did not treat Price either while he was in Menasha or in Appleton but that his connection with the case was to see that Price was placed in the hands of competent surgeons to whom he rendered some slight assistance, but which did not affect the care of Price. He says that he has been informed that there was no want of ordinary care nor skill in the treatment given Price. Cooney also denies that he was careless or negligent in the treatment of Price and he holds that Price was warned of the uncertainty of the operation performed on him and also that Price knew before the operation was performed that it might be necessary to amputate the leg.

GROUND IS TOO HARD TO DO EXCAVATING

The ground is so dry and the frost so deep that probably few new construction projects will be attempted the remainder of the winter, it is learned.

Lawrence Pierce, Appleton, who operates a gasoline power shovel, has been excavating for several basements, but he encountered a frost that was 4½ feet deep, and consequently was forced to abandon one job for the time being.

Ordinarily when weather conditions permit, the huge shovel is capable of excavating an entire basement from 1½ to 2 hours.

The contractor is having a 20-ton trailer built on which to mount the shovel. The trailer will be equipped with 10 rubber tire wheels so that it can be attached to the rear of a truck and moved from place to place rapidly. The shovel itself is mounted on a caterpillar type tractor.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects. Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaints, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c.

Can't Make Fortune By Fortune Telling Here

Appleton would rather forbid the practice of "fortune telling" than by licensing them. It is one of the eight communities in Wisconsin in which the business of peering into the future is prohibited, according to a survey completed by the University of Wisconsin extension division, it was announced by the local office. A number of other cities, however, make of it a taxable industry.

Fortune tellers, clairvoyants, palmists and others professing ability to divine the future are barred from practicing in the following cities: Appleton, Milwaukee, La Crosse, Ashland, Oshkosh, Shawano, Watertown and Two Rivers. In Milwaukee, La Crosse and Ashland a fine of $100 or more is imposed, but in Appleton the fine is fixed at $1 to $10, with imprisonment in the county jail from one to six days in default of fine.

In 19 cities a license is charged for this practice, some of the fees running as high as $100. Two hundred sixty-five municipalities have no regulation whatever. The state laws declare all fortune tellers to be vagrants. The survey showed the practice is expensive not only to the fortune tellers but also to the clients.

Appleton has not been particularly infected with fortune tellers, according to Mayor John Goodland, Jr. A few may be working under cover, as seemed probable when a Post-Crescent reporter was stopped on the street recently and asked where a certain clairvoyant lives.

That players at social fortune telling games have nothing to fear from the law is seen in the fact that the city ordinance forbids only the fortune telling for "profit and gain." Mayor Goodland explained.

GAS IN STOMACH HURTS THE HEART

Thousands of Cases of Heart Failure Are Caused by Acute Indigestion. Says Medical Writer

Gas pressure from sour, acid, upset stomach is not only nauseating and highly uncomfortable but some day it may prove fatal!

When your meals are followed by bloating, a feeling of fullness or pressure, shortness of breath and pains around the heart, you may be sure that the acid condition of your stomach is producing a GAS that is pushing upwards and crowding your heart. That's the reason for the shortness of breath and sharp, shooting pains.

Whether young or old, the presence of stomach gas is truly serious and should always be given prompt and careful attention.

To quickly banish gas, cleanse and sweeten the stomach, neutralize the acidity—nothing is better than the daily or "as needed" use of ordinary Bismarck Magnesia. It gives almost instant relief.

Any good druggist can supply Bismarck Magnesia, in powder or tablet form, at very small cost—but be sure you get BISMARCK Magnesia—recommended by Doctors and Druggists throughout the civilized world for more than 10 years. adv.

Work will be started immediately by the F. W. Woolworth company in remodeling its store building at 112 E. College-ave. A building permit for that purpose was obtained at the city hall Monday from George H. Potter, building inspector. The work will be done by Hoffman Construction company of Appleton.

TWENTY-FOUR CANDIDATES IN PRIMARY ELECTION

3 CANDIDATES UNOPPOSED IN MARCH VOTING

School Commissioner's Names Won't Go on Ballot Until in April

Three candidates will be unopposed either at the regular or primary election, it transpired Tuesday afternoon when the time for filing nomination papers for city offices expired. These were Fred E. Bachman, city treasurer, A. C. Bosser, attorney, and George T. Richard, Third ward alderman.

The only other offices on which there will be an elimination of candidates are those of assessor and First Second and Sixth ward aldermen. In all other cases there are no more than two candidates who will face each other in both the primaries and the regular election.

The principal contest will be that between John Goodland, Jr., and A. C. Rule for mayor, but the closest competition is that for assessor, with Charles Schrimpf, John P. Gilsdorf, Gordon Fish and George Peotter as the aspirants.

"Dark horse" candidates who stepped into the running Tuesday were E. G. Schueler, former clothing merchant, who seeks the seat of C. D. Thompson as Second ward alderman, and L. J. Cameron, of the clothing firm of Cameron and Schulz, who is candidate for alderman from the Sixth ward, where there are five candidates in the running.

Three more candidates filed nomination papers for school commissioner. They are Mrs. Mabel Shannon, president of the Appleton Women's club and a member of the present board of education, Dr. Charles Reineck, also a member of the school board, and John Trautmann, insurance agent. These candidates do not enter the primaries March 23, but will be voted upon only in the regular election April 6.

Contracts for printing the primary ballots were to be let Wednesday, and the order in which the names of the candidates are to appear on them also were to be determined on the same day. This is done by E. L. Williams, city clerk, in the presence of witnesses, by drawing names blindly and then rotating the order of the candidates' names in every precinct. There being four candidates for assessor and two for alderman, the system puts each name in first place an equal number of times. This could not be done if the number of candidates were not a common divisor of 12.

Following are the candidates whose names will appear on the primary ballot:

For mayor—John Goodland, Jr.; A. C. Rule.

For treasurer—Fred E. Bachman.

For attorney—A. C. Bosser.

For assessor—George E. Peotter, Gordon Fish, Charles Schrimpf, John P. Gilsdorf.

For alderman:

First ward—Mike Steinbauer; J. A. Wood; L. O. Hansen.

Second ward—C. D. Thompson; William Konrad; E. G. Schueler.

Third ward—George T. Richard.

Fourth ward—Terrie Callahan; Charles Schlie.

Fifth ward—Wenzel Hassmann; Richard Artman.

Sixth ward—R. C. Zilske; Henry Staedt; Fred W. Wiese; Philip Vost; L. J. Cameron.

Candidates for school commissioner who will be voted on in the regular election April 6 are Axel Fahlstrom; William H. Kreiss; L. Hugo Keller; Thomas H. Ryan; William J. Egert; John P. Behnke; Mrs. Mabel Shannon; John Trautmann; Dr. Charles Reineck.

KINSMAN SPEAKER AS FOREMAN CLUB GROUP

Dr. D. O. Kinsman led a discussion of Teriffs at the meeting of the home economics division of Appleton Vocational club Tuesday evening at the Vocational school. The study will be continued at the next regular meeting on March 9. A meeting of the public speaking class will be held at 7:30 Thursday night at the Vocational school. Herb Hedig will be in charge.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.
The pressure is high and the weather mostly fair and cold over much of the central portion of the country this morning. There appears to be a division forming between the north and south extremities of the high. However, this may result in considerable cloudiness and even unsettled weather in this section tonight or Thursday, with a slight moderation in temperature tonight. Low pressure over the northeastern states is attended by snows, but elsewhere over the country mostly fair weather prevails.

WANT EVERYONE AT CIVIC WEEK DINNER PROGRAM

Weigle to Talk on City's Underdeveloped Resources at Civic Banquet

Invitations to the Civic dinner Wednesday evening, March 10, at the Conway hotel, one of the principal features of Civic week March 7 to 13, will be mailed out by the Appleton Chamber of Commerce Thursday. Dan Weigle, nationally famous community worker, who will be here to conduct Civic week will speak on "The Underdeveloped Resources of Appleton at this dinner. Return cards are enclosed in the invitation and all reservations for the affair must be in by Monday noon. The address is said to be one of the high spot speeches of Mr. Weigle's repertoire.

Evermore Gmeiner is chairman of the committee of arrangements for the dinner. Members of his committee are Stephen Kalliet, Gustave Keller, Sr., Dr. L. H. Moore, Arthur Holmes, William Fountain, Arthur F. Zuehlke, Emil Zeidler and Anton Giesebach. The dinner is open to anyone, but due to the fact that only a limited number can be accommodated the committee advises that reservations be sent in immediately.

Letters were sent out from the chamber of commerce Wednesday asking members to enlist as workers in the membership drive March 11 to 13. Cards are enclosed in these letters which the individual is to sign and return if he or she is willing to aid in the campaign. The majors of the four battalions of the membership regiment have secured men who will act as captains of the drive. There are to be five captains in each battalion and also a number of lieutenants who will act as reserves in case any of the captains are unable to serve.

Mr. Weigle was so pleased with the first official letter of the chamber of commerce announcing Appleton's Civic week that he has asked Hugh G. Corbett, managing secretary, to send 3,000 copies to him.

Contracts for printing the primary ballots were to be let Wednesday, and the order in which the names of the candidates are to appear on them also were to be determined on the same day. Sixth ward—R. C. Zilske; Henry Staedt; Fred W. Wiese; Philip Vost; L. J. Cameron.

Candidates for school commissioner who will be voted on in the regular election April 6 are Axel Fahlstrom; William H. Kreiss; L. Hugo Keller; Thomas H. Ryan; William J. Egert; John P. Behnke; Mrs. Mabel Shannon; John Trautmann; Dr. Charles Reineck.

Contracts for printing the primary ballots were to be let Wednesday, and the order in which the names of the candidates are to appear on them also were to be determined on the same day. This is done by E. L. Williams, city clerk, in the presence of witnesses, by drawing names blindly and then rotating the order of the candidates' names in every precinct. There being four candidates for assessor and two for alderman, the system puts each name in first place an equal number of times. This could not be done if the number of candidates were not a common divisor of 12.

Following are the candidates whose names will appear on the primary ballot:

For mayor—John Goodland, Jr.; A. C. Rule.

For treasurer—Fred E. Bachman.

For attorney—A. C. Bosser.

For assessor—George E. Peotter, Gordon Fish, Charles Schrimpf, John P. Gilsdorf.

For alderman:

First ward—Mike Steinbauer; J. A. Wood; L. O. Hansen.

Second ward—C. D. Thompson; William Konrad; E. G. Schueler.

Third ward—George T. Richard.

Fourth ward—Terrie Callahan; Charles Schlie.

Fifth ward—Wenzel Hassmann; Richard Artman.

Sixth ward—R. C. Zilske; Henry Staedt; Fred W. Wiese; Philip Vost; L. J. Cameron.

Opera Singer Has Earned Renown As Expert Pianist

In addition to singing the leading role, the Countess Almaviva, in Mozart's opera "Le Nozze di Figaro" here next Tuesday in Lawrence Memorial chapel, Clytie Hine, the young Australian soprano engaged by Mr. Hinchshaw for the tour has quite a list of accomplishments to her credit.

The prima donna is quite an expert pianist, and holds two scholarships, one English and one Australian on this instrument. She often accompanies her own voice, and the cello playing of her musician-husband Captain John Mundy. She attends personally to the gardens at her country home at Spring Valley, New York, and is an ardent and skilled rose-grower.

CLYTIE HINE
"Countess"
in Marriage of Figaro

Clytie Hine spends such time as she can spare from opera and gardening in the kitchen and, while disclaiming any gifts of foreign cookery, can prepare a workmanlike, plain meal for four people unaided, with the best of the home-girls in this country. Hotel life in New York has taught the soprano some of the tricks of the apartment-house of kitchenette, and many artists have been entertained to supper cooked by Clytie Hine after their playing and singing in the public theatres and opera houses.

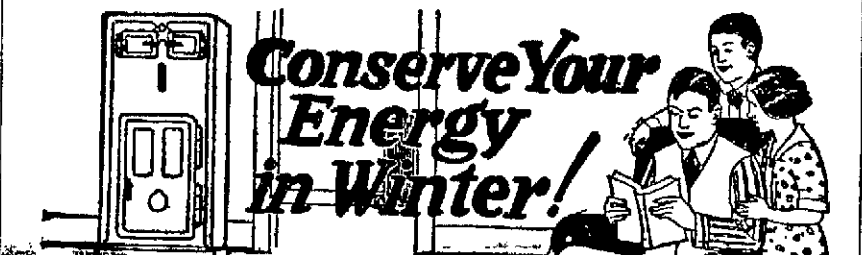

The young artist can make an ordinary day dress and has actually designed and made five evening gowns, in addition to some fancy costumes for her operas. She can drive an automobile to the envy of most of the male chauffeurs in New York, and despite all these extremely valuable attainments, she excels in one much more valuable. She is a most capable and affectionate mother to two lovely, and most musical children, John, Junior, and Margaret ("Meg").

WHAT IS CHIROPRACTIC?

Answer: Chiropractic is a Philosophy, Science and Art of things natural, and a system of adjusting the articulations of the spine by hand, for the elimination of the cause of disease.—Palmer.

Chiropractic is based on the fact that Disease is the result of pressure upon the nervous system. Further, we declare there is only one place in the body where such a pressure can exist, where the nerve trunks are given off from the spinal cord and pass between the segments which form the spinal column.

Here there are found small openings which normally are of ample size to accommodate the nerve trunk without producing pressure.

It is only when these bony segments assume an abnormal position that the openings are made smaller and compression results.

One must realize something of the function of the nervous system. We Chiropractors explain that every tissue or organ in the body is supplied by nerve fibres which originate in the brain.

It is the function of these fibres to carry messages from the brain to the body and from remote parts of the body back to the brain. That an intelligence exists which operates through the brain. No one questions the activities of this intelligence. A Chiropractor adjusts the vertebrae to its normal position, thus removing pressure and allowing normal functional energy to the affected tissue and the abnormal condition known as Disease disappears.

Chiropractic is the twentieth century method of the elimination of disease. It will bear only the closest investigation, and you can well afford, if suffering, to have a consultation for which I make no charge.

PLANNING BOARD REPORT ON PLAT BEFORE COUNCIL

Bucholz Declares Plat Submitted to Council Was Only Tentative

Besides considering the bids for Appleton's 1926 paving projects, the common council on Wednesday night will have before it the recommendation of the city plan commission with reference to the Lake Park reserve plat.

A tentative drawing of the plat was received at the last meeting of the common council and referred to the plan commission, and the latter body recommended that it be not accepted.

P. R. Buchholz who submitted the plat and proposed that the city annex about 108 acres of land in Calumet-co south of E. Calumet-st. thinks that he was misunderstood on the matter of the plat. It was only a tentative drawing that he submitted he says, and was not in final form to be referred to the plan commission. He had merely asked for suggestions from the council, he declares. The plan commission had disapproved of the narrow streets and small lots in the plat.

When interviewed on the matter, F. S. Bradford, chairman of the plan commission, said that when he voted against the plat he was concerned principally about the inadvisability of annexing any more property to the Fourth ward which is even now undeveloped. The city would be assuming a liability for the upkeep of the streets as soon as the plat was adopted and the annexation completed, he said. No actual guarantee had been made by the promoter that he would have all the sewers and water mains installed before undertaking the sale of lots, he declared.

NEW MEMBERS ARE ADDED TO SCOUTS TROOP

Boy scouts of the Congregational church and the executive committee of the Christian Endeavor society held meetings Tuesday night and a meeting of the Worker's council is on the calendar for Thursday.

The Rev. P. O. Keicher gave a report on the inter-patrol contest, which is being conducted by scout troops of the Fox River valley, at the meeting of troop 8 of the Congregational church. Several new members were initiated into the troop. Carl Enger, scoutmaster, was in charge of the meeting.

It was decided at the meeting of the executive committee of the Christian Endeavor society Tuesday evening to hold the regular monthly business meeting March 9 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Eisner, 1320 N. Oneida-st. Plans for a candy sale will be made and regular business will be discussed.

The Worker's council of the Congregational church is to meet at 7:30 Thursday evening at the home of Lacey Horton, 518 N. Mary-st. All church school workers are invited to attend the meeting.

John A. Lonsdorf, district attorney, was a Stevens Point business visitor Wednesday.

BARBARA HAWLEY, 25, jilts BRUCE REYNOLDS, an architect, and gets a job on the Appleton Telegraph. Bruce joins the firm of Manners, Stone and Reynolds, promoting Vale Acres. He meets LIDIA STACY, rich widow. Barbara finds this a reporter and meets BOB JEFFRIES, police reporter, and JEROME BALL, man about town.

Barbara, covering a suicide, finds a red scarf she links with a dress of Mrs. Stacy's. Mrs. Stacy likes Bruce but he refuses her attentions so she tells ANDREW McDERMOTT, editor of the Telegraph, that Vale Acres is crooked. A member absconds and Bruce is indicted. Barbara forces Lydia to clear Bruce by confronting her with the scarf.

VIOLETTA CRANEY, factory girl, writes to Barbara's "lurelorn" column. Bruce disappears of winning Barbara and weds Violetta suddenly.

McDermott's daughter, Fanny, comes to live with Barbara. She elopes with Jerome Ball, against Barbara's advice. Violetta and Bruce have a child. Barbara leaves Appleton to join the staff of Footlights magazine in New York.

Elizabeth Furnivall, unmarried at 40, becomes Barbara's friend at the Footlights office. She is hurt when Barbara moves to Greenwich Village at the advice of Maria Cuppi, free verse writer. Maria haunts Barbara's home. Barbara goes home one afternoon to find it ransacked and her mother's diamond rings missing.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER II

Barbara jerked the drawer out and emptied its contents on the floor. Then she searched through the gloves and ribbons and handkerchiefs. But the rings were not there.

She went out to the dining room. The silver had not been disturbed. Passing through the living room, she noticed for the first time that the samovar was lighted. On the table beside it sat a cup and saucer. The cup had contained tea. A bunch of mignonette in a glass of water was beside it.

A slip of paper protruding from beneath the saucer attracted her attention as she was about to turn away.

"Dear Barbara: This is a fine howdy-do, you'll think. But you don't need those rings, and I do. Daisy got mad today and turned me out. Just to pay her back I'll let you keep the samovar. Shouldn't wonder if it was as valuable as these two diamonds—it's been in her family for ages and ages.

"If you don't want it, try hocking it. Some day I'll pay you back for the rings. I'm really sorry to have to do it, for you've been nice to me. But a girl must live, mustn't she? And I wouldn't do you the wrong of coming to live with you, as you suggested. I'll have bought you more mignonette, but I had only a quartet.

"If the rings bring enough cash, I'll probably jump the next boat for Paris. Never been at home since I left the Quartier Latin. Good-by and good luck, Maria."

Barbara read the note several times. Then she put out the fire under the samovar and telephoned for a messenger. In the interval before his arrival, she wrapped the samovar in strong, brown paper, wrote a note and slipped it under the string.

When the messenger appeared, she handed him the bulky package. "Take this to Miss Daisy Olivero, 73 Morton street," she said.

When he had gone, she went back into the bedroom and replaced the drawers in the dressing table. She was wearing a grim smile.

Miller was just coming out of Miss Furnivall's office when Barbara passed down the corridor next morning.

"Miss Hawley?" he called.

Barbara turned.

"Are you very busy today? Miss Furnivall hasn't shown up yet and we're almost swamped. Could you run off some 'Dark Stage Revue' for her column before you start out to get that 'Tellegen interview'?"

Barbara walked toward him. "I'll manage it somehow, Mr. Miller. Have you any idea what's delaying Miss Furnivall?"

She peered into the room. It looked just as when she had left the night before. The top of Miss Furnivall's desk was cleared and the balcony was bare.

"Not the slightest," said Miller, regarding his big sign. "Duced in convenient time for her to play off on us with the anniversary number going to press in two days. Her telephone doesn't answer."

"She must be sick," interposed Barbara. "She went home early yesterday."

"Oh, yes, I know she'd be here if possible. Daisy is the soul of reliability. Lord, I guess she has a right to be sick, after those 20 years of work. Daisy isn't the sort who ought to be working for her living, anyway. She's not hard enough to hit back at the world when it tries to knock her down. She ought to be knitting beside some man's fire-side."

Barbara sniffed. "And working harder for room and board than she works for the salary you pay her. I don't know that she would be any better off, depending on some man. If a woman must be a purse slave to anybody, I think she'd better be a slave to an employer than to a husband. You can chance an employer if he gets disagreeable."

Miller laughed. "Calm down, Miss Hawley, calm down. Nobody is trying to urge you into matrimony. I was just speaking of Miss Furnivall."

Barbara laughed, too. "On that real artist when you see her," she said to me. "I will go."

"I've never seen her since. That evening the samovar came back with your note."

"I guess I'm lucky that she only took my mother's diamonds, instead of coming to live with me," answered Barbara.

Miss Olivero lifted her eyebrows. "Lucky? You don't know how lucky!"

The talk moved to Miss Olivero's stage career. She spoke of it with a depth of feeling. From time to time she rose and walked about the little room as she talked. The bizarre coat made a splash of color wherever she moved.

"I'd like to play always in the Village," she said, at last, turning to face Barbara. Her eyes burned. "That's the only place that knows what I am trying to do, the only place that will hear what I am trying to say. It's only in the Village that one finds freedom and beauty and the natural life. Down there, we know what living means. We've got rid of all the old outworn compusions and stupid taboos that rule the rest of the world. It's the best an artist can find in this day and age."

"But unluckily, in the Village, we're all poor. An even I can't live on sincere appreciation of my art. I have to have bread and beans and lots of coffee to keep this poor machinery going."

"That's why I'm going up on Broadway if I get the chance, to make enough money to slap Broadway in the face and go back and play for nothing in the Village the rest of my life. But you needn't print that in your story."

Barbara gazed admiringly at the earnest face of the woman. "I wish I knew your Village. It's just a legend to me at present, Miss Olivero."

The actress lifted her eyes to Barbara's. "Would you like to meet the real Village?" she said. "Come to my house tonight. There's to be a little studio party. For a few people who are doing things. Wear whatever you like. But most of my guests like to sport their best clothes when they have a party. There'll be plenty of them in artists' smocks, however, if you choose to wear daytime clothes. It's just a hodge-podge. But it's good fun. There will be some music and much argument and some pre-war bottled cheer. If you have a soul-mate bring him along. We'll feed him well and the women will let him alone. We don't poach in the Village."

Barbara smiled. "I'll come, gladly. But I'll have to come alone. There isn't a man I can ask in New York."

Miss Olivero was gathering up her purse and gloves. "Right-o. Catch a taxi and come alone, about nine o'clock."

She left the office and it seemed to Barbara as if a cloud had come when the bright coat left.

At five o'clock she left the Footlights plant and walked toward Fifth avenue. Miss Furnivall's apartment was in a building on West 59th, just off the avenue.

Barbara walked along in the crush of pedestrians, looking at shop windows and parsers by keen interest. The panorama of New York was still fresh enough to intrigue her, though with acquaintance,

Broadway and its theaters were growing stale.

There were no busses in sight on the avenue, so Barbara walked leisurely up the street, breathing the clear wintry air with pleasure.

The apartment building in which Elizabeth Furnivall lived was shabby. It was situated, with characteristic New York incongruity, between two pompous stone houses with fretwork iron doors. On the steps of one stood a large stiff-necked foot-man, holding a leash to which was attached a Pekinese dog not much larger than a rat. The man stared over Barbara's head as she went by.

When she entered the hallway of Miss Furnivall's building, she was surprised at its appearance. Thick dust lay on the stairs, and the odor of fried food hung about the corners.

Barbara went up the stairs to the third floor. A door immediately at the head of the staircase bore Miss Furnivall's number.

She knocked lightly, and then more loudly. No one answered. She knocked again, but there was silence. Then she felt the knob. It turned unexpectedly, and she went in.

Barbara fell back against the door as a rush of gas met her nostrils. The room was in darkness, save for a shaft of light from the transom that fell slantingly to the floor just in front of her.

Splendid gains have been made in the United States and Canada within the last thirteen years. Stated in an insurance man's language, five years have been added to the average expectation of life.

But more encouraging—in the same period, nearly nine years were added to the life expectation of Metropolitan Industrial Policyholders—a gain, over the general average, of four extra years.

How was this done?—Largely through the inspiring work of our Metropolitan men and women. They sent trained nurses to the homes of millions of sick Policy-

BELOIT FALLS BEFORE LAWRENCE ATTACK, 24-12

Denny Cagers Whip Mills Crew In Decisive Fashion At Beloit Tuesday Night

Blues Complete Schedule Here Friday Night Against Pioneers

Special to Post-Crescent
Beloit—Taking the lead in the first minutes and holding it throughout the game, Lawrence college basketball five of Appleton scored its second victory over Beloit college this season 24-12 score here Tuesday night. The Denny-men outplayed the local squad in every department of the game, holding Beloit to a field goal and three free throws in the last half. The visitors held the lead at the half, 14-8.

The floor work of Briesse and Heideman of the Blue aggregation was the outstanding feature of an otherwise uninteresting contest. These two individuals dazzled the spectators with their speed and seemed able to cover every inch of the floor in record time.

The defense of the Lawrenceans held Beloit to only four field goals, three of which were made in the initial half. Rose, forward, got three of the four baskets and Hastings chased the other.

Briesse led his team in scoring, amassing eight points on three baskets and two free throws. Ashman scored a like number of field goals, in addition the dropping in a marker from the foul line. Heideman got two ringers and Courtney and Zussman one each.

Lawrence displayed a stronger combination here Tuesday night than it did earlier in the season when the Mills and Denny teams met for the first time and should give Carroll college some stiff opposition at Appleton Friday night.

SUZANNE SETTLES IN VILLAGE OF ABBEZANO

Mentone, France—Suzanne Lenglen has taken up her abode in the little village of Abbezano, between Milan and Genoa, to rest for the June tournament at Wimbledon where it is probable she again will meet Helen Wills.

And Helen Wills is going to Italy, and she is not going to practice anything. "I will take my racquet along," she said Wednesday, "but not my pencils." She added that she would probably play in Rome, Milan and Genoa.

"I'm so sorry, Mlle. Lenglen has gone to Italy," she continued. "But still she knows her own business best. I feel disappointed that I cannot meet her again until Wimbledon, but don't you think she should have given me a return match here?"

Lenglen said Wednesday "we are through until Wimbledon. The little one will not play even for my club at Nice."

HELEN BEATS GERMAN
Mentone, France—(P)—Helen Wills defeated the German tennis champion, Frau Dörmann, decisively in the third round of the Mentone tournament Wednesday. The score was 6-0, 6-2.

DEPAUL QUINT TRIMS LACROSSE NORMAL FIVE

La Crosse—(P)—Coach Keeler's La Crosse Normal basketball five lost a heart-breaking basketball game to DePaul in the interstate conference here Tuesday night, 26 to 21.

The locals led at the half, 14 to 7, and appeared well on the road to a win until three long shots by DePaul demoralized the locals, and by a burst of flashy passing and shooting swept into the lead and held it.

MASTER-MINDS MAKE ERRORS IN BASEBALL

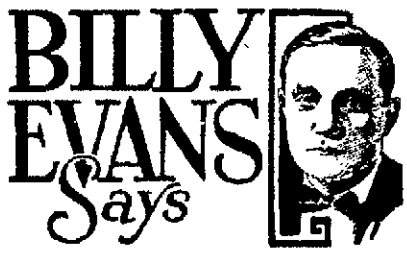

Even the greatest of baseball managers make mistakes. Several years ago, when Manager Ritzky and Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Nationals had a battle in the clubhouse, it was rumored the Cardinal star would be placed on the market.

Report had it that he was to go to New York. Manager McGraw freely admitted that he was after Hornsby and expected to land him. McGraw, it is said, offered $200,000 for Hornsby.

St. Louis wanted a player to fill the vacancy and suggested Frankie Frisch with some cash to boot. That year Frisch was going great and McGraw said he wouldn't trade him even for Hornsby.

Last year Hornsby finished on top of the National League in batting and the sixth consecutive year, batting over .400 for the third time.

Looks as if McGraw would have been wise if he traded even the great Frisch for him.

HOME RUN BALL

Figures do not always tell the truth in sport, but they sure hit the nail on the head relative to the lively ball.

In the middle of last season a change was made in the ball used by the majors. It was laced down considerably. Almost overnight the pitchers seemed to regain much of their old-time effectiveness.

At first the manufacturers scoffed at the suggestion that the ball had been changed, but finally admitted it.

In going over some world series data the other day, I came upon some facts that best tell the story of the lively ball and the home run bug that have prevailed in the majors for the last three years.

In the world series games from 1905 to 1922, 18 meetings between the two big leagues, a total of 35 home runs were made, an average of about two a game.

In the last three world series, 1923-24-25, home runs became common, 21 being made. Thus in the last three classics, nearly as many home runs were made as in the 18 previous events.

And still there were those foolish enough to argue that it was the same ball as in days of old.

SERIES FIGURES

Four home runs had been the record mark up until the 1923 event. In that series the figure jumped to 10. The following season it was one less. Last year all records were broken with 12 circuit swats.

While the ball played its part in the dozen homers made by the Pirates and Nationals, a certain amount of the blame must be placed on the curtailed ball parks.

Both clubs shortened the playing territory of the outfields considerably and some of the home runs of the last series were the sorriest of jokes, particularly those that went into the temporary stands on the home.

I am inclined to think the fans didn't outlive the home runs of the last series as much as usual.

Sooner or later it will be made compulsory that the world series games be played on the same fields on which the pennants were won.

LEGISLATION NEEDED

With the ball that was in use 10 years ago, the distance of 235 feet from the home plate called for a worthwhile sweat to produce a home run.

This is proved by the fact that such great hitters as Frank Baker, used to lead the American League in home runs with a total of eight or nine for the season.

While every fence or stand in the majors is more than 235 feet from the home plate today, the lively ball has made it a soft matter to get home runs, that on good-sized playing fields would be easy outs.

I believe I am conservative in venturing the opinion that but for curtailed playing space, the outfielders would be able to catch half of the balls that drop into the stands for home runs.

Regulation playing fields, each part having the same distance to the outfields and from the base lines to the stands, are certain to come in baseball.

MACMEN PREPARE FOR GREEN BAY BATTLE FRIDAY

Win in Final Game of Season Will Give High School Even Standing

Laboring under the humiliation of two defeats suffered last weekend, Appleton high school basketballers are availing themselves of every spare moment this week to rekindle their disrupted ranks into a combination capable of defeating East Green Bay high school on the latter's court Friday evening. The game marks the last of the 1925-26 campaign and offers the Orange squad the opportunity of finishing in the first division with a percentage of 80.

Comparative scores of the Green Bay and Appleton team indicate a narrow margin of superiority for the former aggregation, but the margin is decidedly slight. The MacAuliffe youths toppled the West Green Bay five 18-17 here a few days back, while East Green Bay defeated its rivals from across the river 18-14 last Friday.

West Green Bay, however, is a half game below Appleton in the conference standing, having won two and lost four this season, but the Bay ranks are still intact while those of the Orange are not. A defeat for Appleton would drop them into sixth place.

Coach MacAuliffe is making a final effort to bolster the strength of his lineup. Lacking their usual accuracy for the basket during the Neenah encounter, the Orange youths also followed in the defensive end of the game, allowing their opponents too many close tries at the hoop.

Their chief failing, however, and one which really lost their Saturday night game, was their inability to count from the free throw line.

Following the East Green Bay battle, the local high school youths will have one week in which to prepare for the district tournament, which starts Thursday, March 11, and ends Saturday, March 13.

BADGERS UPSET WRESTLING DOPE

Defeat University of Illinois Grapplers in Surprise Match

Madison—One of the big surprises of the weekend of athletic activity was the work of the University of Wisconsin wrestling team. Leaving the stronghold of wrestling, the University of Illinois and picked as sure losers in the dual clash, the protégés of Coach George Hitchcock upset the "old dope bucket" and emerged a fine winner against the undefeated squad of Coach Drehn. The Badgers have been a hardluck aggregation all winter losing two meets by scant margins of one and two point, while the Minnesota grapplers stopped them by a lopsided margin.

The Illinois title had yet to lose a meet and were generally conceded to be champions of the west half of the Big Ten. Righting their opponents all the way, the Badgers found themselves on the short end of the score just before the final match between the heavyweights. A fall over the Indian heavy meant the meet. A fall it was and Tom Portney, Cardinal heavy was the hero of the meet. In a trifle more than seven minutes he pinned his foe and the Badger squad had won a hard earned win over one of the strongest teams in the conference.

Coach Hitchcock is now preparing his Badgers for the Big Ten meet at Lafayette next week and while the Cardinals do not stand high in the dual meet percentage, the Badger Coach is sure that his men will do more than their share in the individual bouts that are scheduled at that time. Captain Lyle Zortner will lead a team of fighters who are not set for the big clash. Zortner will enter the middleweight division, with the following mates: Cohen at 115, Chao at 125, C. G. Lash at 135, Spales at 155, Cole at the light heavyweight and the victorious Portney of best weekend in the heavyweight division. The Cardinals will be heard from in the surprise of the Purple.

The Purple was upset in the second meeting of Green Bay East and West. The Purple five won the first game and it was figured White's men were due to repeat but East came through with an 18 to 14 victory. McGuire, the Hilltopper captain, played the lead role in the surprise of the Purple.

Menominee made it two straight over their neighboring rivals, Marinette, Johnson & Co. appeared to be away off their game and they failed to give the Michiganders but the little expecter of them. True enough the purple and white died with their boots on but the score was heavy against them.

Referee Barber of Two Rivers had more than his hands full in the Appleton-Fond du Lac official. The fray sort of got away from him and some facetious encounters were pulled off on the floor. When the smoke of the fracas blew, the Cardinal-town aggregation had a comfortable lead, 19 to 19.

Sheboygan finished up its conference season by administering a 28 to 9 mauling to the luckless Oshkosh quintet. The Chairs, playing on their home floor, gave a splendid exhibition of eagles and at no time during the skirmish, was the Sardust City aggregation anywhere in the running.

After taking a licking at Fondy, Appleton high lost another one to Neenah high to the tune of 19 to 14. The Mac-men displayed a week eye for the net and they blew many shots. The victory was true to form as Coach Christoph's five had been doped out to cup.

The Calumet club five of Green Bay broke even in their two game

BABE DONS EYE SHADE IN TRUE WILLS STYLE

New York—(P)—Shades of Helen Wills, ringside fight enthusiasts and newspaper copy desks.

Babe Ruth has appeared on the New York Yankees training field at St. Petersburg with a green sun-protector adorning his forehead.

What Brooklyn did at Clearwater and the Giants at Sarasota Tuesday mattered little in face of the Babe's impersonation of Miss Wills. Both teams went thru routine workouts.

The Babe also is wearing a rubber shirt to reduce poundage.

BADGERS HAVE GREAT PROSPECT IN MOODY

Wisconsin appears to have a promising sophomore swimmer in Max Moody. He prepped at St. Paul, Minn., a member of the Badger relay teams and consistently strong in the 40 and 100-yard free-style events.

GOPHER PUCK CHASERS CLINCH BIG TEN TITLE

Minneapolis—(P)—Minnesota's smooth working hockey six virtually clinched the big ten ice title with a 2 to 1 triumph over the Michigan team here Tuesday night, giving the Gophers a clean sweep of the series.

WINS HARVARD HONORS

Izzy Zarakov
Stellar all-round athlete at Harvard who has been awarded the greatest baseball honor a player can attain at the university. He was given the Dana P. J. Wingate memorial cup for his capable work with the Crimson nine last season and the Barrett Wendell but for being the leading offensive pastime. Zarakov has won letters in baseball, football and hockey.

VALLEY SPORT GOSSIP

The curtain is pulled down on the Valley conference basketball chase Friday night. Three games are scheduled. Fondy invades Manitowoc for a game that will decide the Little Eight championship. West Green Bay is to jump to Marinette while Appleton is booked at East Green Bay.

Shawano high chalked up its twelfth straight victory, Saturday night, at Kaukauna, when the Curliess-men humbled the Electric City aggregation 13 to 11 in an overtime game. It wouldn't be surprising if Kaukauna was a contender for the stage scholastic honor again this season.

The Two Rivers jinx still hangs heavy over Manitowoc. In one of the early season games, Two Rivers invaded Manitowoc and went home with a victory. The Shipbuilders were all set for revenge but instead they again fell before the savage attack of Johnson's quintet by a 15-13 score.

The Oshkosh district basketball tournament will probably develop into a battle royal between Fond du Lac and Neenah. Fondy has bowed once this season to Neenah, but it isn't any sign they intend to do it again. In St. Paul and Elkhart, Neenah has a pair of the best forwards in this part of the state.

Six hundred Wisconsin bowlers are entered in the A. B. C. tournament which gets under way in Toledo on Saturday night. Milwaukee boasts of an enrollment of 61 5-man squads. The other entries are sprinkled through the state. Menasha is sending two teams with Oshkosh and Fondy one apiece.

Neil Gonyea, captain and star of the Kaukauna high basketball team, has been declared ineligible for athletic competition. As a result of this decision, all games won by Kaukauna on the court this season, have been forfeited and the Electric City school will not compete in the Appleton tourney.

Art Denny, athletic director of Lawrence college, has been named as one of the officials for the district basketball tournament which will be held in Marinette. Denny has handled this caging meet for several years. Coach Doehling of Ripon college will also officiate in this caging cliche.

The all conference basketball dopsters are beginning to sharpen their pencils. It is hard to figure how Hutchins of Fond du Lac, Peppard of Manitowoc and Linsey of Sheboygan will be kept off the team. Ashman of Appleton is another likely choice but there will be a wide scramble for the fifth job.

A gentleman is often seen, but very seldom heard to laugh.—Cheslerfield.

After trailing the Appleton Coated Paper Co. quint 8 to 11 at the half, the Citizens Bank cagers rushed away from the paper makers in the final half of their Y. M. C. A. Industrial Basketball league game at the "Y" gym Tuesday evening and emerged victors, 20-18. It was a close call for the bankers, the Coated Paper crew displaying unlooked for strength.

The losers put up one of their best exhibitions of the season in the early part of the game, taking the lead soon after hostilities commenced. They faltered in the second quarter, however, but maintained their lead as the half ended.

The third quarter witnessed the start of the bankers' rally, and at the close of the period they had tied the score at 12 all. During the final period the contest was a tied on several occasions but two field goals just before the game ended gave the bankers their fifth win of the season.

The Fox River Co. representatives downed the Riverside Paper Co. five 26-11 in the first game of the evening. The game was closer than the score indicates, the winners holding a slight 15-9 margin at the first half.

Ray Tarnow of the victors was the outstanding performer, caging six field goals and two free throws for 14 of his team's points. Bader was the high scorer for the Riverside, tallying with four baskets.

Hilton, usually the big power of the Riverside offense, was held to one basket and a free throw.

Neenah Kimberly-Clark cagers warmed out a close 23-15 win over owned game Monday evening. Neither side held much of an advantage at any period of the fray.

KIMBERLY LOSES TO KOHLER FIVE

Athletics Lead at Half Time but Fail to Halt Rally of Visitors

Kimberly—Kimberly-Clark Athletics lost a close game to the Kohler five by a 28-26 count at the clubhouse Tuesday evening. The nine point lead which the local cagers established during the first 20 minutes of play was quickly lost in the last half as the visitors came through with a volley of field goals and the score was knotted several times before the final whistle blew.

Kohl was the main cog in the Kimberly scoring machine with seven field goals and two free throws. Cook caged three baskets and a free toss.

A. Badura, Fechter, Scheurle and Kinsman each found the hoop three times from scrimmage

J. W. MAY ASK FOR BUILDINGS

Kronshage Suggests Formulation of Building Program to Regents

Madison, Wis., (AP)—Formulation of the constructional development committee of a building program to be submitted to the next legislature was suggested by Theodore Kronshage, Jr., Milwaukee, at the meeting of the University of Wisconsin board of regents Wednesday.

The regents avoided controversial questions, such as the endowment issue arising from the loss of gifts from incorporated educational endowments. Mr. Kronshage, chairman of the board, disclosed that Governor Blaine may not release the appropriated funds for a new university library until 1927, due to a "disappointing revenue from inheritance taxes."

The legislature approved an appropriation of $500,000 to extend the facilities of the university library, which was to be made available this year.

The board instructed Arthur Peabody, state architect, to develop plans for the $1,500,000 medical school, the contract for the construction of which is anticipated may be let July 1.

Franklin A. Nace, Iowa, advised the board that the agricultural college committee was unprepared to report on changes in the agricultural policy suggested at the last session by John L. Cashman, Denmark, and George Nelson, Milltown, both regents.

The board approved the offer of the National Teachers' seminar of Milwaukee to have Prof. Max Gruebsch, director of the seminar, conduct two classes in German at the summer session of the university. The regents accepted $10,000 from the seminar which was given the Milwaukee institution as a fund for the teaching of German.

1886 Was Year Of Great "Crime Wave" In County

Outagamie's greatest crime wave occurred in 1886, it would appear from a recent survey of court records for three of the eighteen trials for murder or manslaughter in the county since 1830 were in 1886 and one in the previous year. Thus the county had in about 75 years less than one-twentieth of the number of homicides that occurred in New York city in 1921.

Guns, arsenic, and clubs of various sorts were the conveying implements in most of the cases, but some of the court records for the old cases had been misplaced and for others no papers remained, so that the survey could not be made completely. The trials studied included all homicides, whether the case was of murder or of the different degrees of manslaughter.

FIRST IN POISONING
One Ephraim Bradi was surprised on April 11, 1885 at his feelings following his lunch carried to work in the morning, and the coroner that day found that arsenic had been introduced into the day's pancakes. The wife, Euphonia Sophia Bradi, was charged with making and cooking the said pancakes in the town of Neenah, with packing them in her husband's lunch basket, with malice aforethought, contriving and intending to kill Mr. Bradi, who ate the lunch in the town of Greenville.

Another, Porter Ross, immediately after shooting and killing his wife, Selma, immediately after the murder of the house for creating a disturbance in her house, picked up his hat, and walked out, according to the record of the testimony given by the woman who kept a boarding house in the town of Kaukauna. But he was sentenced to two years at the state penitentiary at Waupun for second degree manslaughter. Ross went to the boarding house on March 8, 1897, with a warrant to take his wife home, but she refused to go until after he had shot at her. She then expressed a willingness to accompany her husband, but he gave her another bullet in the back, it is said.

FIND FEW REMAINS
Some molars and human remains are the only remains of one Michael M. McCarthy, who it was said, was shot by Wenzel E. Kaber and later burned in a bonfire by the same man. In the ashes, found buried in a ravine near the farm on which the death occurred, were some charred teeth and a few other bones, presumably from a human body. Kaber, who had had relations with McCarthy about the purchase of the McCarthy farm at McCarthy's Crossing, was charged with and convicted of murder in the first degree on September 11, 1905. He had been seen by a boy who worked on the farm, burning great piles of brush, and it was found that the ashes in question were swept up very clean. The gun, alleged to be the weapon used, was given to the boy.

The clubs of length and weight caused the death of two Outagamie county men by mortal injuries inflicted on the head. Hugh Doyle was charged with the killing of Theodore Endler of the town of Freedom, by means of a stick with which he is said to have hit Endler's father, and one of Endler's brothers, on December 18, 1885 but only the first was seriously injured.

James Dugan of Appleton, died on Jan. 20, 1888, and John Hogan was charged with the responsibility of the death. He was said to have hit Dugan on the side of the head with a large and heavy club with the intent to take the life of Dugan.

Robert Krefek was sentenced to two years at Waupun on a charge of fourth degree manslaughter for the killing of Garrett Hayes with a sharp knife. Hayes was stabbed in the neck. It was alleged, on Sept. 29, 1878.

The latest murder case in Outagamie grew out of the death of Edw. R. Bodor, for whose death Henry Dietzler was convicted of manslaughter in the third degree. Bodor was shot on Sept. 20, 1923 in the town of Moline, and it was said that the shot was fired by Dietzler from a point on the opposite bank of the river. Dietzler was sentenced to four years in the prison at Waupun, but was released by Governor Blaine.

Alfonso Elkey planted three bullet wounds in his wife, Dorca, on April 11, 1888, it was charged, and was sentenced to 15 years at Waupun for murder in the second degree. Difficult to get property was the cause of the killing of Bert Clarke, whose death was charged to Frank Farwell on July 21, 1886. Death was caused by a shot, following a quarrel over some property.

Anton Holmoh was convicted of manslaughter in the first degree and sentenced to six years at the prison at Waupun for the alleged killing of John Powers on Feb. 21, 1886. The death was done in self-defense, the defendant claimed. Holmoh died at the State hospital in Oshkosh on April 2, 1902.

DERAILMENT DELAYS TRAIN FOR THREE HOURS

Due to the derailment of a freight train Tuesday morning near Rhineland the Ashland division train scheduled to arrive in Appleton from the north at 3:30 in the afternoon was held up for several hours and did not get here until about 6:30 in the evening.

Because of this delay the northbound passenger train passing through Appleton about 6 o'clock was necessarily held up, and was about two hours late in leaving Appleton Junction.

STOCK EXCHANGE LOSSES ESTIMATED AT BILLION

As a result of the adverse "Nickel Plate" decision but sufficient buying support was in evidence for high grade stocks to hold most of their above Tuesday's low levels during the first half of the session.

The first sale of "Nickel Plate" common was a block of 1,000 shares at 110, and overnight loss of 23 points, nearly three hours after the market had opened.

Early declines of 1 to 13 points in the other waninger rails were followed by rallies of 1 to 5 points before 12:30 p. m. There was a persistent demand for common stock of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Co. whose minority stockholders successfully contended that the "Nickel Plate" financial terms were unfair and inequitable. It advanced over 9 points above Tuesday night's close to 122½, after opening at 116. Supporting orders placed for United States Steel common and other high grade issues and the lowering of the call money renewal rate to 4½ per cent indicated that bankers and powerful financial interests were supporting the market. Over two score industrial issues had advanced 1 to 3 points by early afternoon.

BEAR TRADERS ACTIVE
Bear traders, however, continued to hunt out weak spots, subjecting the market to another terrific attack in the early afternoon and forcing the liquidation of many weak industrial accounts in those issues. One block of 15,000 shares of Chesapeake and Ohio, at 40½, against Tuesday's low of 40½, but most of the other members of that group appeared to be holding above their previous resistance points.

Total stock sales in the first three hours of trading totaled approximately 2,150,000 shares, or at the rate of 11,888 shares a minute.

This rate, if maintained to the close will establish a new high record for volume in the history of the exchange. The floor of the stock exchange and the customers' room of brokerage houses presented scenes of wild confusion. In some instances, veteran brokers, who maintained their seats on the exchange for sentimental reasons, were sent to the floor to assist the younger partners in the transaction of the huge volume of business as the rules of the stock exchange prevented any but members from actual trading on the floor.

Prices on the rubber exchange of New York broke sharply Wednesday, the day's trading limit of 500 points or 5 cents a pound, being reached in three of the options shortly after noon.

MATCHES CAUSE DEATH OF STURGEON BAY GIRL

Sturgeon Bay, Wis.—Playing with matches is believed to have caused the death of 19-year-old Almeda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lessmiller, a farmer living about 10 miles south of here.

The parents had gone to the barn to tend to the cows on Tuesday, leaving the girl and her six-year-old brother alone in the house. When they returned they found the girl in bed with her clothes burned off and in an unconscious condition. She lived only a few hours.

RAILROAD STOCK IN BIG COLLAPSE

Heavy Selling of So-called Merger Rails Unsettles Road List

New York.—Wide fluctuations in stock prices took place at the opening of Wednesday's market. Indications of the presence of strong buying support for some issues were seen in the initial gains of 3 points each in Woolworth and Dodge Bros. and 1 to 2 points in American Smelting, California Packing and General Electric. Rails were heavily liquidated, however, as result of the "Nickel Plate" decision. Erie common broke 6½ points to 28 and Wabash 4½, but Chesapeake and Ohio opened 5½ higher.

Hudson Motors dropped 2 points. Heavy selling of the so-called "merger rails" unsettled the railroad list soon after the opening but several industrial showed indications of strong buying support. Peter Marquette collapsed nearly 12 points and Pittsburgh and West Virginia "Katy" common, Missouri Pacific common and Kansas City Southern yielded 4 to 6 points before the end of the first half hour. Early gains of 4½ to 5½ points above Tuesday night's closing quotations were recorded by American Smelting, American Sugar, American Locomotive, Allied Chemical, American Agricultural Chemical, Woolworth and General Electric. Call money renewed at 4½ per cent against a rate of 5 Tuesday and 5½ the day before. Foreign exchange opened irregular, demand sterling ruling slightly higher at $4.85 9/16 while French francs jumped 3½ points to 3.74½ cents in reflection of Premier Briand's latest legislative victory. Norwegian kroner dropped 16 points to 21.32 cents.

Prices of the recognized market leaders forged steadily ahead, as soon as it became evident that strong support was being extended to the popular shares. Short covering and buying for the long account lifted many issues from 2 to 5 points but further distress selling was evident in spots. The bulge in Chesapeake and Ohio of 9 points to 122½ caused a suspension of selling pressure against the general railroad list. Peter Marquette rallying 5 points.

Weigh Your Affairs On These "Computing Scales"

The so-called computing scales which are on the market make it easy for the storekeeper to compute prices while he is weighing the things he sells. This is possible through the tables of figures on these scales, which show how much any number of pounds at so much per pound will amount to.

There are figures in the A-B-C Classified Section which tell a somewhat similar story. How often and how closely a man consults these numbered groups of opportunities, is an indication of what he will amount to.

If you desire the revenue which results from renting an apartment—if you are seeking employment—if you want the rock bottom price on some article of merchandise—if you decide to have any one of a multitude of things—you better weigh your decision in the A-B-C Classified Columns.

Here is the place to find out exactly what it is worth!

BIG CROWD GETS MANY LAUGHS OUT OF JUNIOR PLAY

High School Actors Portray Efforts of Young Millionaire to Win Bride

Numerous situations, cleverly handled by an excellent cast, kept a large audience which witnessed Seven Chances the 1924 junior class play of Appleton high school, even Monday evening at Fischer's Appleton Theatre, in laughter the entire evening. Miss Tschering and Eunice Segal shared honors in the leading roles although the work of the other members of the production added greatly to the humor of the play.

Jimmy Shannon, hero of the comedy, played by Leslie Roberts, 1924, the death of his grand father, providing he is married by his thirtieth birthday and has lived with his wife comfortably for at least a year. Jimmy is a bachelor and though he really is in love with Anne Windsor, played by Eunice Segal, he prefers to marry her in the thought of marriage. He will be in just one day, though his lady friends believe he has a week's time.

Frank Murphy playing the part of Earl Goddard, married, but happy and Arthur Smith, his law partner, Henry Garrison, married, but not so happy, are Shannon's lawyers and their power of the characters true to life, caused several humorous situations. This was especially true in Garrison's scenes with his sarcastic wife, played by Louise Mareson.

Billy Meekin, played by Mark Catlin, is Shannon's best friend and his attempts to get Jimmy married within the time limit form an important part of the plot. Jimmy proposes "one at a time" to Georganna Garrison, played by Gwen Purser, Lily Trevor, played by Alice Gerschow, Penny Wood, played by Lucille Guss, Florence Jones, played by Donna Hoffman, Betty Willoughby, played by Lois Kleehn, Irene Trevor, played by Margaret Heide. He is refused by each until Irene, the baby camp, only 16 accepts about an hour before midnight. However, she also breaks the engagement when she thinks of a schoolboy friend and his fiancée.

Jimmy also has proposed to Anne but though she loves him she refuses to marry him just so he can get the money. Finally all of the girls change their minds and decide to accept him, "sacrificing their ideals to make him happy." They change their minds again, however, when Meekin announces a new law has been found annulling Jimmy. Then he is free to marry Anne, his real love. After she consents a few minutes before his birthday, Meekin announces that his latest news was a fake, as he desired to have his friend marry for love. Of course they are not going to have grandfather's millions to start life with.

Other members of the cast are Ralph Debbis, the club poet, whose hobby is telling old jokes, played by Robert Matz, Joe Spence, a club member, played by Dexter Chafee, Copper Street Singer, played by Evelyn Kriesel and Grace Violante, played by Carl Schaefer, George, club butler, played by Francis Rooney. All of the minor parts were well portrayed. Music was furnished by the high school orchestra under the direction of Carl McKee.

The success of the play was largely due to the work of Mrs. John Engel, its director. Others who helped with the production were, Robert Mitchell and Robert Fads, business managers; Beatrice Segal and George Tschelacher, stage managers; Barbara Schinners, Trudy Weber, and Orville Mose properties; Carl Nelson and Cuthbert Ryan, exhibitors; Francis Thompson, general manager.

The industrial commission of Wisconsin will hold hearings in Appleton on March 12 in five claims under the workmen's compensation act, according to A. J. Altmyer, secretary of the commission. Hearings scheduled are Leo Grace versus E. H. When the commission holds its hearings, it will be glad to be consulted informally by employers and employees upon other matters which have arisen under the compensation act, Mr. Altmyer said. "Any person who has any questions upon his rights or duties under this law is cordially invited to consult the commission," concluded the secretary.

TELLS ORIGIN OF DREAM PICTURES

Barnson De Cou Conceived Scheme Listening to Phonograph at Home

Barnson DeCou, who will give a program here on March 8 under the auspices of the American Legion auxiliary, in telling how he conceived the idea of "Dream Pictures," says: "When you see a group of Dream Pictures carefully planned to merge into the mood and climaxes of the music of the masters you may wonder where the idea of this union of sight and sound came from."

For many years it has been my practice to make annual photographic trips studying and photographing our American wonderlands in the preparation of travelogues which have been given on the leading eastern programs such as Brooklyn Institute, Columbia University, Philadelphia forum, National Geographic society, American Museum of Natural History.

record of Schubert's 'Ave Maria' rendered on my phonograph at home. Comfortably ensconced in a big easy chair, in a distinctly dreamy mood, there somehow surged into my mind memories of the picturesque ruins of California's old Spanish missions, those romantic structures built by the Franciscan padres just one day's journey apart on 'El Camino Real' forming the background of California's early history.

"Just to pursue the inspiration of the moment, I hastily set up my stereopticon, sorted out some of the mission pictures and repeated the music while projecting the pictures. I was astonished at how much more emotional significance was assumed by the lovely melody than ever before. The combination of a sight and sound touched the spot in my imagination that the music or the pictures alone did not reach."

Mr. DeCou's program is an innovation. His new masterpiece of art and photography, "A Trip Around the World," has scored a nationwide triumph.
